Barn, Coop Burn At 4th Binnewater, Other Area Fires

Fire destroyed a barn and chicken coop on the Clifford Pine Farm near Fourth Binnewater on Sunday and in a second blaze in Saugerties an over-stuffed chair caught fire when a man fell asleep in it while smoking a cigar.

The barn, containing a loft of hay, a wagon, small rowboat, three saddles and other equipment, was burned to the ground in a fire believed started by spontaneous combustion about 3 p. m. Sunday.

The farm is located just off Lucas avenue extension.

Sparks Threaten House

Two tankers and a pumper from the Binnewater Fire Company responded but the barn and an adjoining chicken coop were practically burned out by the time they could reach the scene, it was reported.

Sparks were falling on the roof of a nearby home, however, (Continued on Page 6, Col. 6)

Spring Lake Fire House Opened; Town Now Covered

Over 150 persons attended the dedication and open house of Ulster Fire District No. 1, the Spring Lake department, over the weekend when the new department officially went into service to serve the township in the Lucas avenue area.

Former Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy, president of the Ulster County Firemen's Association, was master of ceremonies and briefly reviewed the history of the fire department. He referred to the growth of the Lucas avenue area which had made necessary a fire department in that area. With the opening of the new firehouse in the Spring Lake area, the town of Ulster is now completely covered with fire protection. Presently the company has a pumper but plans are already under way to secure a tank truck.

Participating in the dedication ceremonies and open house were Fire Commissioners Ray W. Davis, president; Clyde Wonderly, treasurer; J. Fred Scott, secretary; Edmund Töder, Dr. John Comstock and Robert F. Pardee. Officers of the company are Robert F. Pardee, chief; Clayton Elmendorf, assistant chief; Jack Connell, first lieutenant; Lester C. Elmendorf is president of the company; Carmine Dregotta, vice-president; Gus Cunevelos, treasurer and Chester N. Androvich, secretary.

Among the guests present at the dedication and presented were Fire Chief James Brett of the Kingston department; Chief Edward F. Mains of Port Ewen; Al Kilmer, president of Ulster Hose No. 5, Town of Ulster; Chief Harry Lowe, Ulster Hose No. 5; Edward Devine, vice-president, Ulster Hose No. 5; Super-

Four Die in Plane Crash At Block Island Airport

Block Island, R. I., July 22 (AP)—Four men, close friends and business associates, crashed to death in today's early morning darkness in their flaming plane a few seconds after it took off from this island's airport.

The plane crashed about a mile and a half from the end of the runway in heavy brush, bursting into flames as it struck. The men's bodies were burned almost beyond recognition.

The victims were: Edward Schnoor, 31, of North Smithfield, co-owner and pilot of the four-seater Stinson 150; Lucien Allaire, 39, of Blackstone, Mass.,

Glasco Restricts Lawn Sprinkling To Hold Pressure

To avoid the possibility of low pressure during an emergency the Glasco Water Commissioners have restricted garden and lawn sprinkling within the Glasco Water District until further notice.

According to Fred Francello, superintendent of Glasco Water District a dangerous situation developed during the weekend when due to the unusually large amount of water used, the Glasco standpipe was completely drained. Low pressures occurred in many parts of the district and some households in the southern part of the district were without water for a short time.

Speaking for the Glasco Water Commissioner, Mr. Francello has asked for the cooperation of all Glasco Water District residents to refrain from lawn and garden watering in order to keep pressures up in the event of an emergency.

Glasco receives its water from the Saugerties village water system. Ernest Ackert, village clerk told The Freeman this morning that no restrictions were contemplated for village water users.

No Sprinkling: Order Heavy Drain in Hot Spell Brings Ban

A water department order today placed "a complete ban" on all sprinkling of gardens and lawns in the city, as forecasts gave no promise of relief from continued, hot, dry weather.

Restricted use of water for all but essential purposes became necessary, because of current heavy drain on the diminishing supply in Cooper Lake, the city's reservoir at Lake Hill, Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent, emphasized today.

Five Feet Below Normal
Now down five feet below normal crest, the reservoir has received no intake since the first week in June, and the city has been drawing out 7,000,000 gallons a day.

The ban will continue until further notice, Cloonan said. No helpful rain was in sight for the area, as of today, and after reaching temperatures of 101 and 100 Saturday and Sunday, the Mercury at 1 p. m., today showed signs of reaching at least the deep nineties.

Saturday's 101 degrees was recorded at the city engineer's the other co-owner, Joseph Farese, 29, of Milford, Mass., Allaire's brother-in-law, and George Darling, 33, of Woonsocket, R. I.

All were flying enthusiasts and family friends, and had worked together in several construction jobs.

Civil aeronautics investigators went to the scene to try and determine cause of the accident. They arrived on this island about 7 p. m. last night.

The brush is so heavy in the area where the plane crashed volunteer firemen needed bulldozers to hack a path to the spot.

Officers Asked to Cooperate Chief, Men of All Ranks to Be Heard

Both progress and some hampering detail were noted today in the probe of the local police department which followed the July 10 arrest of two patrolmen on burglary charges.

Despite refusal of five officers to testify under waivers of immunity, the investigation was reported to be "getting somewhere," and District Attorney Howard C. St. John said he expected another grand jury report on Wednesday.

Answer Questions

Officers of all rank have been called upon to cooperate and Police Chief Raymond Van Buren, who has been designated to supervise the probe, as conducted within the department by Deputy Chief Robert F. Murphy, was due to appear before the grand jury today. Other officers have already appeared before the jury to give testimony pertinent to the probe.

Another grand jury report could contain findings on burglary charges against Frank Szymanski, 34, of Elmendorf Heights, and Leo Baniewski, of 83 Green street, whose arrest July 8 for alleged participation in a burglary at the Livingston & LeFever wholesale house, Field Court, appears incident to sparking the all-out police department probe.

Events Take Turn

Special Officer Gerard McCloskey, who said he had locked himself in the building with the two, was then credited with a burglary catch. Two days later events took a new turn when McCloskey and Joseph Keller, 23, of 512 Delaware avenue, a regular patrolman, and Edward Baniewski, 25, of 95 Green street, were booked on charges dating back to a report of burglary May 11 at the local Montgomery Ward store.

Henry R. Decker, Kerhonkson Dead; Area Contractor

One of the area's well-known building contractors died early Sunday morning in Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie.

Henry R. Decker, 67, of Kerhonkson, who had erected public buildings, schools and homes in this sector and along the Hudson valley succumbed after an illness from which he had been ailing for some time before leaving his winter home recently at St. Petersburg, Fla.

He had been hospitalized only two days.

Did Appraisal Work

Aside from his activities as a building contractor, Mr. Decker served as a condemnation expert for the New York Board of Water Supply during the building of Lackawack reservoir.

He was a close personal friend of former Postmaster James A. Farley with whom he worked when they were young men starting out as railroaders.

Built Hotels

One of Mr. Decker's recent contracts was for the addition to Kerhonkson High School. He constructed more than 150 homes in the surrounding territory, and also built the Flagler Hotel at Fallsburg and the Rifton Hotel in Rifton.

Politically he was a Democrat and was active in the party around Kerhonkson.

Born in Kerhonkson

Mr. Decker, who was born September 4, 1889 at Kerhonkson, a son of Daniel A. and Ella Caston Decker, is survived by his wife, Mrs. Millie Friedman Decker; a daughter, Mrs. Weston Lee Barley Sr., of Groton, Conn.; a son, William D. Decker of St. Petersburg, Fla.; two sisters, Mrs. Horace Seifts of Poughkeepsie and Mrs. Frances Barley of Rochester; four brothers, Allen T. of Clintondale, Raymond of Walder and Everett and Daniel Decker of Kerhonkson; two grandchildren, Mrs. Louis Furendo of Passaic, N. J., and Weston Lee Barley Jr., of Groton, Conn.; a great-grandson, Richard Lewis Furendo of Passaic, N. J.; an aunt, Mrs. Frances M. Haines of St. Remy and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral will be held from the H. B. Humiston Funeral Home, Kerhonkson, Wednesday at 1 p. m. with the Rev. Clarence W. Hunter, former pastor of the Federated Churches of Kerhonkson, officiating. Burial will be in Lloyl Cemetery. Friends may call at the H. B. Humiston Funeral Home Tuesday evening.

Dry Weather Through Part of June and Most of July has cut water supply sources generally throughout the area, and wells were reported drying up in various sections of the county.

The drought is also taking its toll on area farms which stand to show serious losses if it is not broken soon by a rain of helpful duration.

Wells Drying Up

The highest recorded for July 20 before Saturday's 101, was 100 degrees in 1949. The high last Friday was 96 at 4:30 p. m.

9 Airmen Die in Search Plane Burns After Crash Over Italy

Tréviso, Italy, July 22 (AP)—Nine American airmen were killed and a tenth lay critically burned today after their Navy Neptune bomber crashed in flames while searching for a missing sister ship.

The P2V patrol bomber slipped in gusty winds and crashed yesterday 5,200 feet up on Mt. Pra near the Alpine resort of Sestriere near the French frontier.

The plane was one of 20 U. S. and Italian aircraft hunting for another Navy P2V which disappeared Friday with 11 aboard.

A party of Italian mountain climbers saw the search plane fall. They pulled two living airmen from the flames that had burned away most of their clothes. The eight others already were dead.

One of the survivors died soon afterward. The other, described as about 19 years old was taken to a local hospital.

Coronary Attack Is Fatal to Physician

Dr. Sam Maroon Stricken Following Swim at Summer Home on Saturday

A widely-known and beloved physician and surgeon in this city for the past eight years, Dr. Sam Z. Maroon, 43, of 436 Broadway, died early Saturday evening as a result of a coronary attack after swimming at his summer residence in West Park.

Dr. Maroon, who maintained an office for the practice of medicine and surgery with his brother, Dr. Habbab Maroon, was characterized by a cross-section of the city today as outstanding surgeon and cited for dedication to his profession in which "he treated rich and poor alike without thought of personal gain."

Collapses After Swim

Highland state police reported Dr. Maroon was swimming across Black Lake, West Park, located near his summer residence, shortly after 6 p. m. Troopers Thomas Crowley and Paul Mitchell, who were dispatched to the scene at 6:20 p. m., said Dr. Maroon swam to the other side of the lake, climbed out and collapsed.

A group of youngsters from New Jersey, vacationing near the lake, saw Dr. Maroon collapse, troopers said, and Dr. Carl F. Meekins, of Highland, and Dr. Richard E. Gordon, of West Park, were summoned. Dr. Joseph Jacobson and Dr. Walter Levy, both of this city, also were called, troopers said.

Efforts Fail

Dr. Maroon was pronounced dead by Dr. Meekins at 7:10 p. m. after efforts to revive him proved futile. He was removed to Kingston Hospital by Schultz ambulance.

Coroner Francis J. McCordie issued a verdict of death due to natural causes as a result of a coronary attack. The coroner refuted rumors circulating throughout the city shortly after Dr. Maroon's death that he had drowned. "It was definitely established that he did not drown," Coroner McCordie said.

Born May 15, 1914 in this city, the son of Milady and the late Zacharia Maroon, Dr. Maroon was graduated from St. Peter's Parochial School in 1928, and from Kingston High School in 1932.

Starred in Athletics

He was graduated from Columbia College in 1936. He distinguished himself in athletics while attending college and was a member of the 1934 Columbia football team, which upset Stanford University, 7-0, in the Rose Bowl.

In 1940, he was graduated from the University of Cincinnati Medical School, Cincinnati, O., and served his internship in 1940 and 41 at Cincinnati General Hospital.

Dr. Maroon entered service in 1941 and was promoted to major in the Army Medical Corps, serving with the 7th Evacuation Hospital in the Pacific Theatre on the Fiji Islands, Guadalcanal, New Guinea, the Philippines and Japan.

Returned Here in 1949

He was discharged in 1945 and served his surgical residency at Post Graduate Hospital, New York city, until 1949 when he returned to this city and opened an office for the practice of medicine and surgery.

Widely recognized in his profession, Dr. Maroon was a Diplomate of the American Board of Surgery, a Fellow in the American College of Surgeons and a member of the Ulster County Medical Society. He was a member of St. Mary's Church.

Surviving besides his mother and brother, Dr. Habbab Maroon, are a brother, Tufig, of Hamden, Conn., and two sisters, Mrs. Nasser Owen, of Los Angeles, Calif., and Miss Dorothy Maroon of this city.

Funeral Wednesday

The funeral will be held Wednesday at 9:30 a. m. from the James M. Murphy Funeral Home, 176 Broadway, thence to St. Mary's Church where at 10 o'clock a solemn high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

9 Airmen Die in Search Plane Burns After Crash Over Italy

His condition was pronounced critical from burns of the face, chest and arms.

The plane crashed at noon, three hours after taking off from the U. S. Air Base at Aviano, near Udine, to join other American and Italian planes in a search of northern Italy.

American officials said the search plane was from Naval Patrol Squadron 23. They declined to make public the names of those aboard.

The search planes were looking for a Neptune patrol bomber which left Casablanca Friday morning en route to Tréviso near Venice.

The plane made the 1,400-mile flight without incident and was sighted over Padua. Friday afternoon descending in a rainstorm for its landing at Tréviso 30 miles away. Then radio contact was lost.

Italian air-search center officials expressed fear the plane had overshot Tréviso in the rain and might have gone down in the Adriatic off Venice.

Rains and winds have hampered the search.

Won't Help Processor

Since little of the milk produced in the Ulster county area is diverted to lower price use, there will be little benefit to local processors. However all processors or dealers will pay approximately $1.20 per hundredweight plus a 2 cents per hundredweight administration fee under the August first amended marketing order.

It was pointed out by local dealers that in order to meet this additional cost, continue to pay producers the present premium price for fluid milk and continue in business it was necessary to increase the retail price of milk by two cents per quart.

This increase of two cents per quart will only reimburse the processors about 92 cents per hundred weight while the new order will increase their operating cost about $1.20 per hundred weight plus the two cents for administration costs.

It is for that reason that there may possibly be another cent short in the retail price shortly.

St. Peter's Plans Drive For $75,000 Improvements

The Rev. Joseph D. Ostermann, pastor of St. Peter's Church, has announced that the parish plans to undertake a fund-raising campaign directed at realizing a minimum need of $75,000 to help finance part of the cost of an extensive program of repair, rehabilitation and improvement of parochial buildings and property.

The program, expected to be completed by next year when the parish celebrates the one hundredth anniversary of its founding, includes such major items as the installation of a new main altar, two side altars and an organ, the painting and redecorating of the interior of the church, the construction of a landscaped parking area opposite the church at the intersection of Wurts and West Pierpont streets, repairs in the school, school playground and the school retaining walls, and renovation of the rectory.

Planning, organizing and training of committee volunteers will begin immediately in preparation for the official launching of the campaign on Monday, Aug. 5. The first training meeting for the committee of men will be held this Thursday night, July 25 at 8 o'clock in the parish school.

Father Ostermann expressed confidence that St. Peter's parishioners will support the fund-raising appeal wholeheartedly and most generously. The Rev. William V. Reynolds, assistant pastor, has been named moderator of the campaign committee.

12 Drown in Heat Wave

Albany, N. Y., July 22 (AP)—Cool air moved toward New York state today after a sweltering weekend during which 12 persons seeking relief were drowned.

The drowning toll exceeded the traffic toll. Seven persons were killed in traffic accidents, including three men and a teen-age girl. Two persons died in other mishaps.

Relief Promised

The uncomfortably warm and humid weather continued into today but the weather bureau said cooler air would blow in tonight from Canada.

Temperatures rose to 99 yesterday in eastern New York. Crops, lawns and gardens wilted under the heat.

The worst traffic accident involved a group that had planned to go swimming.

The three men—Ellias Polovchak, 21, Robert Liberacki, 24, Harry Kostic, 32—and Constance Abbott, 15, were killed when their automobile plunged over an embankment last night. Two other teen-age girls were injured. The group was heading for a moonlight swim. All were from Binghamton.

Slipped During Climb

At Ballston Lake Saturday night, Peter Curran, 12, Ballston Lake, was found hanging. He apparently slipped while climbing a tree with a rope.

John Philion, 17, Hudson Falls, died Sunday of injuries suffered in a dive from a dock Friday night.

In an out-of-state accident, Mrs. Emerald Payne, 53, Endicott, drowned Saturday when she fell from a dock while fishing in Upper Lake, near New Milford in northern Pennsylvania.

Water Use Restricted

In the Albany area, where the last appreciable rain fell July 5, many communities have clamped severe restrictions on the use of water. Agricultural agents report that milk production is declining because pastures have dried up.

Showers brought a brief relief in the heat to some areas.

lacerations of the right knee and contusions of the chest.

Also injured in a weekend accident was George Clark Jr., 19, of Port Ewen, who reportedly suffered abrasions of the back and other possible injuries when his car turned over. He was apparently not treated at local hospitals.

Martin, Schaffer and Miss Moon were injured in a one-car mishap at 11 p. m. Saturday on Route 32 near Potter Hill road, town of Ulster, according to Kingston state police.

Escape Injury

Three others in the 1952 convertible operated by Martin were not injured. They were Frederick Schaffer, 21, Malden, Anne McLaughlin, 21, Malden, and Donna Moon, 15, Catskill.

Trooper R. I. Ryan reported that the car was proceeding north on Route 32 when the driver lost control on a right curve just past the Potter Hill road, went off the east side of the highway and plunged into a ditch.

The injured were taken to the hospital by Schultz Ambulance.

12 Are Hurt

Twelve persons suffered minor injuries in a two-car collision at 1 a. m. Sunday on Route 52 one and three-quarter miles west of Ellenville.

In one of the cars, operated by Abraham D. Stern, were Mr. Cohen, Gilda Cohen, Edda and Joan Stern and Miss Kupperman. In the other car, operated by Robert Rentzer, were Miss Moran, Miss Chasen, Miss Malamud, Greene and Bergen.

Cpl. N. G. Leakes and Trooper M. J. Mahoney of the Ellenville state police reported that Mr. Stern, operating a 1950 Rout 52 and young Rentzer, operating a 1949 sedan, was traveling east at the time of the collision.

The right front tire of the Rentzer vehicle reportedly blew out and the driver lost control of the car which traveled about 150 feet on the right shoulder, swerving into the westbound lane where it was in collision with the Stern car, proceeding west.

Car Overturns

The Rentzer car continued for about 100 feet, overturning on the north side of the road and plunging into a ditch. Both cars were said to be demolished.

The investigation is continuing with possible arrest of young Rentzer pending, it was reported.

Young Clark was reportedly hurt when his car skidded on a sharp curve on Route 375 near Tokalon Kennels at 9:40 p. m. Sunday and plunged off the highway. He was reportedly taken to one of the city hospitals by passersby was not admitted.

The 1949 sedan turned over and ended up on its top, according to Trooper H. S. Rhodes of the Phoenixia state police.

Three-Car Accident

No injuries resulted in a three-car accident in the parking area at Schoentag's Restaurant on Route 9W at the intersection with Malden Turnpike at 1:05 a. m. Sunday, according to Kingston state police.

The three cars involved were a 1953 sedan owned by Arthur Waller, 23, RD 2, Box 67, Saugerties, a 1957 station wagon owned by Richard Aiello, 24, of RD 3, Box 85, Saugerties, and a 1956 sedan operated by Robert Schoonmaker, 24, of RD 3, Box 274, Kingston.

Troopers reported that the Schoonmaker car was proceeding south on Route 9W about 65 MPH when it attempted to turn into the parking lot at the restaurant. The driver applied the brakes but struck the Waller car, pushing it into the Aiello vehicle, they said.

Dr. Goldfarb, Wife

Hurt in Auto Crash

Four persons were injured in a three-car mishap near 155 Abeel street Sunday afternoon.

Dr. Saul Goldfarb, 46, dentist, of 222 Pearl street, driver of a car owned by George Goldfarb, of 575 Broadway, suffered abrasions and contusions. Also injured in the car were Belle Goldfarb, 44, of 222 Pearl street, multiple contusions and shock, and Loretta Burkam, 50, of 155 Linden Boulevard, multiple contusions and shock. They were to be treated by a doctor.

Earl E. Carle Jr., 19, of 507 Broadway, driver of one of the other cars involved, reported head and leg injuries and a cut finger.

A police report at 5:46 p. m., said the Carle car was headed north, and the Goldfarb car was going south on Abeel street, and the latter hit the parked car of John Fisher Jr., 35, of 4 Gill street.

The cars in collision were towed from the scene. Police notified the fire department that the street was temporarily blocked as a result of the mishap. Officers Gurnsey Burger Sr., and Albert Hutton investigated.

Shot in Hand During Shokan Target Practice

Paul Reozok of Brooklyn was accidentally shot in the hand while target shooting with a friend in West Shokan Saturday afternoon, it was reported today by the Ulster county sheriff's office.

Reozok and Lyman Volz, also of Brooklyn, were firing a rifle at targets on the Frank Wanke property at the time of the mishap, it was reported.

Deputy Sheriff Michael Stupper said that the gun had oil on it and that it slipped out of Volz' hands and discharged, the bullet striking Reozok in the right index finger.

He was treated at Kingston Hospital and discharged.

Sheppard Lie Test Off Until Check Of 'Confession'

Columbus, Ohio, July 22 (AP)—Ohio Gov. C. William O'Neill said today Dr. Sam Sheppard will not receive a lie detector test until the "confession" of a Florida prisoner that he killed the doctor's wife is determined to be true.

The governor announced his position after a telegram from the unofficial "Court of Last Resort" headed by mystery writer Erle Stanley Gardner, cast doubt upon the validity of a confession by Donald Wedler.

Wedler said he bludgeoned a woman during a burglary on the same night that Dr. Sam's wife, Marilyn, was killed in her Cleveland suburban home. Sheppard, who protested his innocence, is serving a life sentence for her slaying.

O'Neill, who last week gave permission for a lie detector test to Sheppard, changed his position after receiving this telegram from the court of last resort, an unofficial body created to prove innocent those who may have been wrongly convicted.

"We are still not prepared to take as true the confession of Donald Wedler. But following our examination of him in Florida we admit to a growing conviction that he may well have committed the murder of Marilyn Sheppard. However, no one should form any final opinion on this man until after there has been a lot more investigative work done and until there has been a psychiatric investigation."

"There are some important major conflicts between his story and existing fact. These conflicts may have been the result of drug reactions and attempts to rationalize his acts or just plain deception."

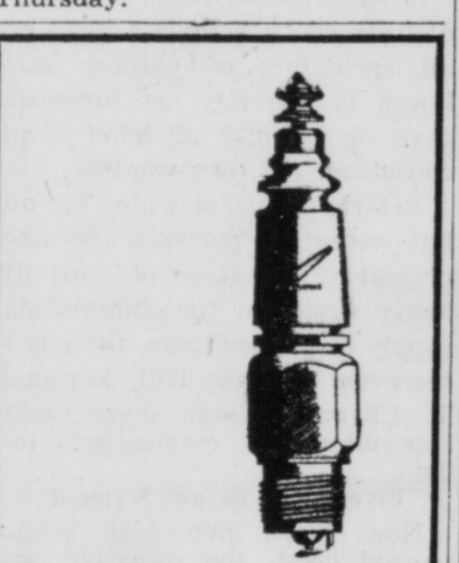

O'Neill pointed out that earlier telegrams from the court said there was not the slightest evidence of deception in Wedler's statement. But the governor said the latest telegram uses the language "or just plain deception."

"This present telegram," O'Neill said, "indicates the tests show he may be guilty of just plain deception. . . . I have discussed this with Warden Alvis (of Ohio Penitentiary). It is my opinion and his that until the truthfulness of this confession is determined, there should be no lie detector test given to Sheppard."

O'Neill said he would wire a similar statement to the court of last resort.

Posed as Graham Usher

New York, July 22 (AP)—A former Los Angeles liquor salesman has been charged with passing his own collection plate at Evangelist Billy Graham's rally in Yankee Stadium. Police said Louis Silver, 46, posed as an usher and collected about $500 in the huge throng Saturday night. He was nabbed as he left the stadium and was charged with grand larceny. Silver was held in $1,500 bail for a hearing Thursday.

Briefly Told

Albany, N. Y., July 22 (AP)—There were 10 fewer lives lost in traffic accidents in New York state in the first six months of this year than in the first half of 1956.

A total of 933 persons were killed in traffic mishaps in the first half of this year, compared to 943 for the same period last year.

The State Motor Vehicle Bureau reported yesterday that 168 persons were killed during June, compared with 613 in the same month a year ago.

Motor Vehicle Commissioner Joseph P. Kelly said traffic violations figured in 82 per cent of the June deaths, drunken driving in 9 per cent and mechanical defects in 3 per cent.

Albany, N. Y., July 22 (AP)—The Empire State Chamber of Commerce has urged New York congressmen to vote against the federal school-aid bill.

The chamber said yesterday the measure would cost New York taxpayers 38 million dollars a year, while the state would receive only $18,700,000 in federal assistance.

Welles A. Gray, secretary of the chamber's education committee, described the bill as "another instance where states which have not measured up to their own responsibility seek to put their hands into the pockets of New York taxpayers."

Albany, N. Y., July 22 (AP)—Richard A. Waite Jr. of Troy, dean of students at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, will fill next month the newly created post of executive assistant in higher education in the state education dept.

He was appointed to the $9,952-a-year post yesterday.

Lake Placid, N. Y., July 22 (AP)—James A. Cruikshank of Drexel Hill, Pa., former editor of Field and Stream Magazine, died Saturday in Lake Placid Memorial Hospital. He was 88.

Cruikshank also had managed the skating rink at Rockefeller Center in New York city and the figure-skating rink at Rye, N. Y. At one time he had been a reporter on the old Brooklyn Eagle.

He was spending the summer in this Adirondack mountain resort.

Albany, N. Y., July 22 (AP)—Edward J. McCullen of New York city has been appointed by Gov. Harriman as a member of the temporary state commission on the constitutional convention.

He succeeded the late William O'Shea.

McCullen, 71, served as a judge of the Court of General Sessions in New York county from 1951 until his retirement in 1956. He was a justice of City Court in New York city from 1943 to 1950.

Harriman announced the appointment Saturday.

Polish Press, Radio Going Commercial

Warsaw, July 22 (AP) — The press and the state radio of Communist Poland are going commercial. It is part of an effort to combine communism with capitalist business methods.

Newspaper ads cover a wide range.

"Learn to Dance," The Soliszeski Brothers advertise in the Evening Express. "Latest additions—Rock 'N' Roll, Calypso."

"For Sale," English-tailored dinner jacket. Used twice.

"You'll buy or sell a house, building site or farm most profitably through Realmox (a government agency)."

A marriage bureau asks if any girls would like "serious proposals from cultured American gentlemen, aged 30 to 35?"

The Express and the morning newspaper Zycie Warszawy carry two pages of ads in an average eight-page issue. A year ago they had less than half a page.

The state radio wants to get into the advertising business and expects to begin making with the commercials by Aug. 1.

Commercials have been given tryout over the provincial station at Szczecin and the plan now is ready for the national network. As a beginning, commercial plugs will be limited to a daily one hour disc jockey program.

The state radio hopes to get adds—and hard currency—from western firms whose products are trickling into Poland.

As a money-maker, the radio also is commercializing its daily request hour. This hour carries greetings to young Wladyslaw in the army from mom, pop and all at home. Now the greetings must be paid for.

A spokesman said the state radio plans "maximum freedom possible for the advertiser" but will take no responsibility for the goods plugged.

It has a reason. The Communist party organ Trybuna Ludu recently complained the state butcher shop on Nowy Swiat, Warsaw's main street, put up a sign reading: "meat and cured meats in great assortment."

Inside the shop, grumbled Trybuna Ludu, you could hardly find a sausage.

Exceptional Birth

Greensboro, N. C., July 22 (AP) — A four-year-old Hereford cow owned by G. G. Filmore Jr., gave birth to a calf recently, the second in four months. One veterinarian said he had heard of calves born a week apart but never four months apart. Others said it might happen once in a million bovine births.

Will Seek Recount In Census Taken During Last April

Albany, N. Y., July 22 (AP) — State comptroller Arthur Levitt says he will seek a recount in the special censuses taken in many New York communities last April.

Levitt said yesterday he believed residents temporarily away from home should have been counted.

The comptroller said he was "particularly concerned" over preliminary U. S. Census Bureau reports that indicated population drops in some of the larger cities, especially New York and Syracuse.

To Hold Conference

He said he would confer Friday with census bureau officials in Washington on the possibility of a recount that would include persons who were temporarily out of the state on military duty or business, attending college or vacationing when the census takers called.

The census bureau counted temporary residents of the state, other than transients, but excluded New Yorkers who were not at their legal residences.

Levitt said that retabulation, counting the persons who were away from home might raise New York city's population above the level of the regular 1950 census.

To Determine Aid

The special censuses were made to determine whether communities were entitled to increased state aid. Any community that shows an increase in population since 1950 may receive an additional $6.75 per person in state aid, under a 1956 law.

Communities that filed certificates showing population declines would lose state aid. However, Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz said last week that such communities were not required to file certificates. If they did not file, he said, they could continue collecting from the state at the present rate.

Today's Success Story:

A Man Who Got Rich by Giving His Money Away

BY HAL BOYLE

New York (AP)—Bernard Spero is a man who became rich by giving money away.

"I may be a crazy idealist," said Spero, a 63-year-old Chicago business executive, "but I've had the privilege of living a life I believe in—and most people don't get that privilege."

Spero is head of House of Vision, Inc., a midwest optical firm with 23 branches in five states. His "crazy idealism" has consisted of a profit sharing plan under which he has given away 49 per cent of his firm to his employees.

The firm was small and debt-ridden and doing only about $90,000 worth of business a year in 1924 when Spero, a young engineer, took it over. It had doubled its volume by 1938 when Spero decided to distribute 24 per cent of the stock to key employees as a bonus, and to donate another 25 per cent into a trust fund to benefit all employees.

"I had several reasons for doing this," he recalled. "One was selfish. I wanted to build a good organization, and I decided that a human being, since he is a flexible organism, would work twice as hard if he felt he was really getting what was coming to him—and not just a living wage."

Another Reason

"Another reason was my feeling that a man who put a lifetime into helping build a business really deserves something more than a gold watch after 25 years."

Spero's employees contribute 2 per cent of their salary to the fund. The fund itself, in addition to its share of the dividends gets 20 per cent of the firm's net earnings before taxes.

Mushrooming business—the firm grossed nearly four million dollars in 1956—has mushroomed the value of the employees' fund with these typical results:

A paraplegic worker who joined the firm in 1944 and gets $90 a week has paid into the fund only $800, but his share is now $12,600.

A $500 a month bookkeeper has contributed $645 to the fund since 1950 but her share now amounts to $7,932.

An $8 a week messenger boy who rose to become a branch manager has paid $2,474 into the fund since 1939 but now has a stake of $41,411. If the firm continues its present growth, in another 10 years his stake will amount to $150,000 or more.

How He Handles It

Spero rewards key employees with annual bonuses, but to keep executives "from hogging the fund" limits their share in it by restricting their contributions to 2 per cent of their first $10,000 in salary.

He applies the same rule to himself. While he has the largest share in the fund, it comes to only $68,000.

Spero is hopeful that other firms will adopt similar profit-sharing plans because "they would help to make all business sound and healthy."

"This system is an answer to many of our economic problems. It is one way small business can prosper, compete with big business, and keep peace between labor and management."

Although Spero still owns 51 per cent of his firm, he has pledged that in the event of his death or retirement his survivors will retain only 12½ per cent of the stock, leaving his employees the opportunity to buy actual control.

Spoiled by Inherited Money

This, he feels, is a good thing, too.

"I don't think you do people a favor by leaving them too much money," observed the slender wiryhaired executive, who has two grown children. "I've seen too many kids spoiled by inherited money."

"I've also seen lots of fine firms ruined by family control of the business after the founder died. It's better to leave a small part of a sound business to your family than control of a big business turning sour. In the end the employees who helped build a business ought to have the chance to take it over."

Then Spero, a business philosopher who rarely likes to get sentimental, observed:

"One of the best things about this whole idea is the feeling I have that the employees regard me as a friend. You know, over the years, that counts for a lot."

Gigantic Blast Clears Cliff on Great Salt Lake

Little Valley, Utah, July 22 (AP) — The biggest non-atomic explosion ever set off in the United States blasted about three million tons of rock from a cliff on the banks of the great Salt Lake yesterday.

Heavy equipment today began a 6-months task of hauling away the rubble left by the explosion of 1,790,000 pounds of nitro-carbonate and dynamite.

Barges will haul the rock into the lake as the base for a 13-mile dirt fill to be built for the Southern Pacific railroad. The fill will replace a wooden trestle on the railroad's famed Lucin Cutoff across the northern end of the lake.

Newsman one-half mile away during the blast saw the cliff expand like a balloon. Then jets of smoke and dust squirted through and the crumbled rock dropped back to earth.

The explosive, officials said, was 80 per cent nitro-carbonate and 60 per cent dynamite.

Project engineer Howard Wilard of the Southern Pacific said the biggest previous non-atomic explosion in the U. S. was 1,362,000 pounds set off Feb. 5, 1949, at Bristol, Tenn.

The world is expected to have about 5,000,000,000 people in another 50 years; today there is about half this number.

Eight Violent Deaths

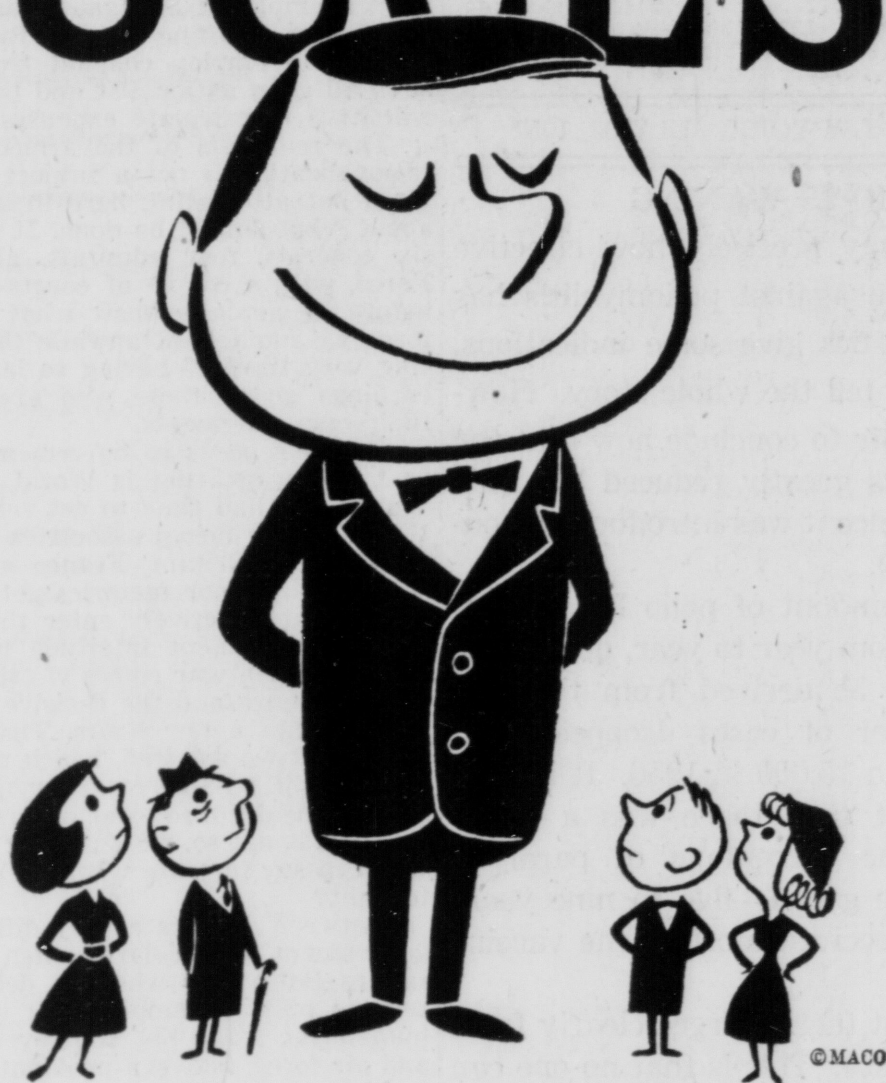

Boston, July 22 (AP)—At least eight persons met violent deaths in New England yesterday. Four died in traffic, three drowned and fire claimed the eighth victim.

Ives Prediction Is Niagara Power Bill to Be Voted

Washington, July 22 (AP)—Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-N. Y.) predicts that Congress will pass the Niagara Power bill this year, the civil rights debate in the Senate notwithstanding.

Ives said Saturday the protracted debate on civil rights "may prove to be a blessing in disguise" for the bill, which would authorize New York state to build a 600-million-dollar power plant at Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Although the civil rights battle has held up Senate action on the bill, Ives said, "the Senate situation has finally caused action in the House."

The House Public Works committee approved the bill last week.

"I think the House will pass this bill by the time the civil rights debate will have ended in the Senate," Ives said in a radio broadcast for a network of upstate New York stations.

"Then the Senate can act on the same legislation," He predicted final congressional approval this year.

As to objections to the bill from Ohio and Pennsylvania senators, Ives said: "There is more than enough (power) for all foreseeable needs in those states."

The measure would set aside for Ohio and Pennsylvania 10 per cent of the total power produced. Those states want a greater share.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JULY 22, 1957

POLIO IS WANING

No one can say precisely how effective the Sp" vaccine against poliomyelitis has been. The statistics give some indications, but they do not tell the whole story. However, it seems fair to conclude now that the Salk vaccine has greatly reduced the incidence of polio since it was introduced a couple of years ago.

Though the amount of polio has always varied widely from year to year, quite a bit of comfort can be derived from the fact that the number of cases dropped from 38,000 in 1954 to 15,000 in 1956. It is even more significant that there was a sharp reduction in the percentage of paralytic cases in the age group—five to nine years old—that has received most of the vaccine thus far.

One important fact emerges clearly from the statistical data. This is that no one can rely on the vaccination of others as his protection against polio. With certain other diseases—smallpox for example—the virus almost disappears when only part of a population has been vaccinated, because those who have been immunized cannot give others the disease. This is not true of polio. Those who have received the Salk vaccine apparently can still harbor the polio virus in the digestive tract and possibly thus carry it to others who have not been vaccinated.

This lends special emphasis to what Dr. Salk and many other experts have been saying: everyone, at least to age 40 and perhaps beyond that, should receive the three polio inoculations. That is the best means now available for ridding the nation of this terrible, crippling disease.

KHRUSHCHEV STEPS UP

Nikita Khrushchev, the great de-Stalinizer, has taken the road of Stalin. At the 20th Congress of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union, Khrushchev delivered his now famous speech on the so-called "cult of personality." Also, he did most of the important talking on other issues. Now with the ousting of Molotov, Kaganovich and Malenkov and other high Russian party officials from their posts, Khrushchev is closer to attaining the eminence of becoming the new "little father of the peoples"—that is, the new Stalin.

Molotov, Kaganovich and Malenkov were obstacles because they were closely associated with Stalin, and their very presence in the ruling clique in Russia was a serious inconvenience. These ousters mean a purge. Those close to the dismissed bureaucrats will now probably get the boot.

It is not predictable as to how far the purge may go. Expulsions from the party, trials and even executions may come as the inexorable process of the Russian power fight goes on.

And the Soviet Union may experience years of this struggle. For though Khrushchev apparently is healthy, he is not a young man. But he now definitely appears closer to the time when he can leap right into Stalin's boots.

England's Air Force Marshal Tedder calls possibility of there ever being push-button warfare a "mere fantasy." But he must admit that the "button, button, who's got the button" game during recent years has been too near to war to be comfortable.

GAP IN PENSION PLANS

Workers' pension plans, much in the public eye just now, are overlooking an important point. Sylvia Porter, a financial columnist, says they are based on the assumption that everyone wants to quit work as soon as he has made enough money. This is far from the truth, as everyday observation shows.

Few persons are more bored or depressed than those who have been retired against their will, and have developed no other occupation to pass the time. What the corporations who wish their workers well

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
REDUCING THE INFANTRY

The President's decision to reduce the armed forces by 100,000 is an indication, not that war is not possible, but rather that sooner or later, a revision of all ideas about military operations is necessary, as it always is after a great war. The rise of the airplane to primacy as a conveyor of bombs of various sorts reduces the value of the infantry which has traditionally been the backbone of any armed force.

The foot soldier throughout history has been the most essential combatant and even in countries which prided themselves on their navies, the greatest honors were paid to infantrymen because it was the foot soldier who fought the final battles and occupied the territories. It is hardly possible to say, after the Korean and Indochina Wars, that the infantry is useless. What it is possible to say is that other weapons have become more deadly and that no nation can afford to maintain all the service arms now available. As long as the greatest cost is the atom and hydrogen bombs, budgets cannot be devised to carry all the other costs without bankrupting a people.

This problem applies equally to the Russians as to ourselves. When the British were at their height they were able to use native troops for infantry, such as the Gurkhas and the Sikhs, who did wonderful fighting under British officers. The French employed Senegalese and Annamites and others and had fine armies. But today, it is impossible to employ colonial troops because they have all gone nationalist and therefore all armies will have to calculate expenses on home costs.

The reduction of the armed forces and their rationalization is not a subject for amateurs and I am not attempting here to lay down any laws about what should be done. It will probably take six generals, four admirals, and the entire Air Force, with a couple of courts-martial thrown in before we actually know what kind of an armed force we require. Meanwhile the taxpayer is getting very tired of having so large a share of his earnings go to those who are really unsure of their own judgments.

But this needs to be remembered: during the past two wars, that is World War I and World War II, we had time to get ready. During World War I, our principal associates were powerful nations, Great Britain, France and Japan. During World War II our factories got going in 1938 and we did not effectively enter the war until 1942.

This convenient interlude is not available to us now. When war comes we shall be in it within a few minutes and the decisive air fight will take place within a few hours. That is so, if we believe what we are told, which may or may not be so. Also, if we believe everything we hear, we shall all be dead, so what difference does it make? But if it is not so, we still may have to fight. And who can say for sure where or how we shall have to fight?

Between wars is a very difficult time for any government, particularly when the enemy is the savage Bolsheviks who are debased morally and seek to build an empire that will encompass the human race. All the controversy between army and air force, between profligate soldiers and economical politicians, are no more than natural selfish considerations. Basically, it is the product of the uncertainty as to what is to be done that can produce the best defense without admitting that nobody really knows.

The British have faced the problem very practically. They cannot defend themselves at all, if bombs are used in the next war. So they are fixing the bombs for peace and are reducing their military expenditures to what a second or a third class military power can afford. The rest is up to the United States. France does not matter and paradoxically will have to be defended by West Germany which is again becoming an enormous military power. Soviet Russia is as worried as we are because any country can make hydrogen bombs and it is impossible to forecast the future in Asia.

So there is everywhere fear, uncertainty and confusion. The greatest menace to the United States is that a drunkard heads Soviet Russia and nobody can foretell what a drunkard will do when he is drunk.

Bright Child Presents

Many Special Problems

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Written for NEA Service

Parents may have special problems with children who are exceptionally bright.

An excellent book on this subject (Teaching the Bright and Gifted, by Cutts and Moseley—Prentice-Hall, New York) while addressed primarily to teachers, contains much of interest to parents.

Among other things, the book points out that it is not always easy to identify the bright child, even by such well-known tests as the IQ. The IQ test alone, for example, does not make any allowance for the character and motivation of the youngster.

Nevertheless, it is important to identify all bright children and to see that they acquire factors which will enable them to progress as far and as fast as their potentialities permit.

THE BRIGHT child does not always show his ability for everyone to see. Some are given to daydreaming or to aggressive disorders. Some get bored in school or at home because they are not given enough to do for their active brains. Others may have physical defects which may make them appear stupid. Certainly the exceptionally bright child is rarely a "little angel."

One of the best clues to the identification of the bright child is in his out-of-school activities. The bright child is likely to be an ardent hobbyist and may carry at least some of his hobbies (even though he shifts rapidly) farther than other children do. This is something that parents can watch for.

THERE ARE problems, once they have been identified, in knowing how to handle bright children. For example, many bright children come from broken or unhappy homes. Some have poor discipline at home and some are simply handled improperly by the parents.

One bad but common procedure is for parents of a bright child to keep reminding that youngster of the superior accomplishments of some older brother or sister.

THE RESULTS of standardized achievement tests show that bright pupils have the ability to do the 12 years of preparatory work (through high school) in nine years or less. If large numbers of bright children could be more rapidly advanced just think of the savings on school space and teachers.

But there is the question of social adjustment and it would hardly be wise to let a few youngsters into college at 15 or 16 when most of their colleagues are considerably older. This is a problem for all of us to ponder.

should do is to help the prospective retirees to adjust themselves in advance, develop new skills or hobbies in which they can take a real interest.

Personnel departments should extend their activity to the close of the employee's career, and not merely to the end of his active days with the company. That would help to give those who retire a much more satisfying life in their declining years.

"I'm Doing It So You Won't Get Hurt"

Washington (NEA) — When their wives leave town for the summer, some Washington husbands use it as an excuse to step up their social activity. Not so Defense Secretary Charles Wilson.

While his outspoken wife Jessie is at their summer place in Walling Lake, Mich., Charles turns into a social moose.

He refuses all invitations and stays in his office till nine or 10 some nights. He calls her every night after work.

THERE WERE RUMORS of Ike graduating from his helicopter—for quick escapes from the White House—to a jet plane that can take off and land straight up and down from the lawn of the Executive Mansion. Rumors followed movies shown at the White House of the Ryan X-13 which can perform this feat. Ike's transportation expert, Dewey Long, saw the film and stated later:

"I don't think the plane is ready for use by the President and besides I don't think Mrs. Eisenhower would like all that racket in her back yard."

PAKISTAN AMBASSADOR Ali's chef, Newab, is now as famous in this town as he is at home. He's one of the reasons why Ali is rated such a good cook.

So it's not surprising that Newab cut loose with the fancy calories like seldom before in his career when Ali threw the big reception for visiting Pakistan Prime Minister Suhrawardy the other afternoon.

Food experts among the guests agreed that Newab's beef and chicken curry were the finest they had ever tasted. Per capita consumption of these dishes set a record.

Newab also served cold, sliced tenderloin of lamb, which he had selected personally from the packing house. For the non-meat-eaters he did something sensational to huge platters of succulent halibut steak.

A U. S. INFORMATION

Agency cameraman, assigned to get newsreel shots of the welcome parade for visiting Pakistan Prime Minister Suhrawardy, rented a Cadillac convertible the night before and parked it in a commercial garage. Next day, sandwiched between two police escort cars in the parade, he noticed that one fender had been bashed in.

When he finally got back to the garage, still with his police escort, he registered his complaint about the dent. But it turned out that he had picked up the wrong Caddy and that police radio warnings had been broadcast all day. The embarrassed escort cops admitted they had heard the broadcasts but had failed to check the license of the car they were escorting.

AN EDITORIAL in the magazine "The Egyptian Economic & Political Review" published in Cairo makes a plea for all Egyptians to learn to speak English and gives the following reason: "The Mig fighters and Ilyushin bombers of the (Egyptian) Air Force have English instructions and readings on their controls and, in consequence, an ignorance of English is a disadvantage to the engineer or the specialist. English must remain as the principal mode of exchange between Egypt and countries as disparate as the Soviet Union, Mexico and China."

Broadway in Berlin

New York (AP) — The newest overseas branch of Broadway theatrical production is to be set up in West Berlin under the direction of the American National Theatre & Academy. A series of dramas, starting in September, are to be presented in Congress Hall, a vast auditorium being erected in the former German capital jointly by the United States and West Germany. The five million dollar hall is primarily designed for science, cultural and educational conclaves. The theatre project is part of the president's international cultural exchange program. The premiere stage offering may be a trio of one-act plays by Thornton Wilder.

Civil Rights Bill Compared To Repealed 'Force Laws'

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 22 — Three words—"lest we forget"—might well be included conspicuously among the millions of words being recorded in the Senate debate on the so-called "civil rights" bill.

Will history repeat itself and will Congress again tamper with the machinery of local elections under the guise of protecting the right to vote? Sen. Allen J. Ellender, of Louisiana, Democrat, in his speech in the Senate the other day, referred to comprehensive reports to the House of Representatives by its own committees in 1893 which tell the shocking story of what Federal intervention in local elections means and why Congress repealed then the very same type of statutes now being proposed for passage.

There is a significant analogy to present-day events. The Federal intervention took place not alone in the South, but in other regions, under laws—known as "force bills"—passed in the emotional days that followed the War Between the States. Federal agents and deputy marshals and supervisors were appointed to guard local elections—to insure "purity of the ballot." Scandals ensued. The House of Representatives chose the New York city area to examine how these laws were being applied. Here in part is what the investigating committee formally reported to the House on Jan. 27, 1893:

"Your committee after a very careful study of the operations of the Federal election laws before election and on election day in the City of New York, are of the opinion that all of these laws have entirely failed to produce any good results in the direction of the purity of elections or the protection of the ballot box, and have been productive of such serious and dangerous results that they ought at once to be repealed."

Suffrage Conditions

Later in the year, a report was submitted to the House by the committee to which the various bills for the repeal of the statutes had been referred. It said: "How then can the United States, by its supervisors and deputy marshals, . . . scrutinize the registration—a condition of suffrage in many of the states—when the right of suffrage emanates from the state itself and the state alone can determine it? . . ."

"Many of these statutes also impose penalties upon the election officers of the states, in the conduct of elections, for a violation of the state laws. Was ever a more monstrous proposition written on the statute books of a free country? . . ."

Deprived of Rights

"In many of the great cities of the country and in some of the rural districts, under the force of these Federal statutes, personal rights have been taken from the citizens and they have been deprived of their liberty by arrest and imprisonment. . . ."

"Finally, these statutes should be speedily repealed because they mix state and Federal authority and power in the control and regulation of popular elections, thereby causing jealousy and friction between the two governments; because they have been used and will be used in the future as part of the machinery of a political party to reward friends and destroy enemies; because under the practical operations of them the personal rights of citizens have been taken from them and justice and freedom denied them; because their enactment shows a distrust of the states and their inability or indisposition to properly guard the elections, which, if ever true, has now happily passed away."

This report emphasized that the wording of the Constitution gives only the state legislatures the right to prescribe the qualifications of voters. Congress was impressed and repealed the laws.

Extension of Authority

Today a majority in Congress is proposing to set up a civil-rights commission with the power of subpoena, and also a civil-rights division in the Department of Justice which is to have the use of tens of thousands of FBI agents in getting evidence for prosecution. These agents will be instructed to swarm into the Southern states to examine how voters are registered and to determine how election officials apply the eligibility qualifications in each state.

But the exercise of this power need not necessarily be confined to the South. If it is thought to be an effective way to regulate local elections, there is no reason why the same federal authority will not be exercised again in New York city and perhaps in Chicago or Detroit or Kansas City or in any of the other big cities where powerful political organizations and bosses line up the voters and sometimes register them or give them certain rewards as inducements to register and vote.

If the federal government goes into the business of inquiry or supervision, one political party or the other will find it advantageous to demand that the machinery of inspection be used to its own advantage. The end result will be the same as it was sixty-five years ago. It is strange how often the same mistakes are made in American history.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I can throw more light on Hank Greenspun, the chief accuser of Joe McCarthy and Pat McCarran, by harking back to the murder of Bugsy Siegal, Greenspun's partner in a gambling dump in Las Vegas built partly with hot materials while restrictions were still supposed to control such stuff just after the war. A Senate committee made a pass at the question of those building materials after VJ-Day, but this mob had influence.

Billy Wilkerson, a Hollywood gossip, dressmaker and hasher of deluxe pretensions, had picked up a spread of Nevada desert on a tax delinquency. To hear him tell it, he learned with dismay that Mr. Siegal, who muscled in, was a low character. However, Siegal did possess "background." The Bug's relatives in New York, who manufacture hardware, provided one of the many jobs that tied over Eleanor Roosevelt's diplomaniac brother, Hall. So the family did move in the best circles.

Greenspun hit Vegas and Los Angeles fresh from a scrape in the New York courts concerning money he lost in his bar examination. And about a year before Siegal was murdered Greenspun hijacked a sloop called Idalia at Wilmington, near Los Angeles, to ship surplus American machine-gun parts to Acapulco for further shipment abroad. Nine were indicted for jeopardizing the peace of the United States, but all went free, although Greenspun had to plead guilty of a felony and pay a fine of $10,000. He made a piteous plea of altruism, but it came out that an account of one Heyman, in Geneva, Switzerland, paid him $1,300,000 in three installments through a bank in Mexico City.

The payments were $500,000 on July 8, 1948; $500,000 on July 9, and $300,000 on July 17. So far as the public knows, the Internal Revenue did not hold this to be taxable income. Since then, Greenspun has acquired a daily paper in Las Vegas, which belongs in part, however, to the Printers' Union. The court record indicates that either the Western Ordnance Co. of Nevada, or a resident of Phoenix, Ariz. named Ives, with an army record in the Ordnance Corps, got $650,000 from the same source Greenspun intimated in radio attacks on McCarthy and McCarran that he best Hitler singlehanded, but actually, he ran a roving junkyard in France.

After the initial felony, almost every act of the mob was an additional felony. However, they had great political pull in Washington. The question and answer material on the Siegal murder investigation was a statement by Barney Ruditsky, a retired New York policeman, operating a collection agency in Los Angeles under the Associated Security Council. Siegal, Greenspun and the Vegas mob sent him about $10,000 a month in bad checks and markers. Some of the debtors had been dealt with "a little roughly" by persons, "probably from Nevada." There were numerous ex-fighters and gunmen in the roster which Ruditsky entered in the record.

But Barney did not use threats. In fact, one subject, a gentleman from New York named Feldman, got free medical advice from Barney to cure his arthritis. He owed $2,000 on bad checks. He agreed to pay $50 a week and when one of his installments bounced, Ruditsky gave him fatherly counsel and got him started again.

A wet-back ex-con with a multiple record known as Allan Smiley, a Hollywood celebrity, was sitting with Siegal in the parlor of Siegal's girl, Virginia Hill, when somebody shot the Bug's head off. The federal court ordered Smiley deported, but he went to Houston where he has lived happily ever since. Smiley knows quite a lot about a lot of people in California politics and the movies.

Siegal told Ruditsky he could not understand why the Flamingo was losing. The joint dropped $5,000 on a play of between $250,000 and 500,000 on opening night and it could not win for losing thereafter.

Tugboat Workers Out On Dispute Over Wages

Alexandria Bay, N. Y., July 22 (P)—Approximately 75 tugboat workers employed in dredging operations on the St. Lawrence Seaway were to quit work today in a dispute over a wage increase.

Capt. William Golden, business agent for the licensed Tugmen's Union, said Saturday the men would leave their jobs today.

He said Raymond Smith, president of the Tecon Corp. of Dallas, Texas, had informed him the company would not make retroactive payment of a recently granted wage increase. The increase was effective July 1 but was supposed to be retroactive to April 1, Golden said.

He said vacation and hospitalization benefits also were in dispute.

Present wage scales and the amount of the increase were not available.

The Tecon Corp. is dredging a channel in a 15-mile stretch of the St. Lawrence river between Alexandria Bay and Clayton.

Northeast Faces Livestock Feed Shortage

Washington, July 22 (P)—The northeastern part of the nation faces shortages in production this year that may force it to import much larger than normal supplies of corn and other livestock and poultry feeds from the Midwest.

A persistent drought—described by farm officials as the worst since 1930 in many sections—is cutting sharply into prospects for corn, oats and other grains. Furthermore, it is causing pastures to dry up at a time when dairymen depend heavily on them to sustain their herds.

Hay to Be Scarce

On top of this, the eastern production of hay—essential for winter feed—is being adversely affected.

The drought extends from parts of the Carolinas northeastward along the coast into Virginia, Maryland, New Jersey, parts of Pennsylvania, New York, Connecticut and Massachusetts.

In this area is a major dairy and poultry production industry, built up to help meet needs of the region's vast urban population. The area never produces all the poultry, cattle and hog feed it needs, but this year the deficit threatens to be much greater than normal.

Agriculture Department officials said the situation will saddle dairymen and poultrymen with higher production costs, principally from purchase of feeds grown in other areas.

Hard on Poultrymen

Some dairymen may be able to get prices offsetting these increases, particularly those who sell in government-regulated fluid milk markets in which producer prices are based in part on changes in production costs. But poultry raisers may not be as fortunate.

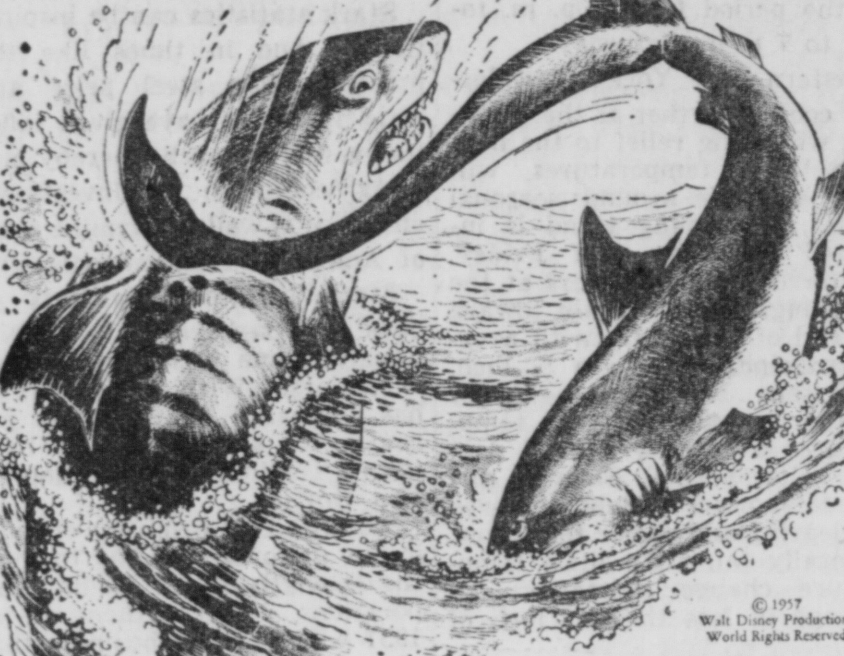

Their prices are determined wholly by market supplies and demands.

It is possible that the government may declare hardest hit areas eligible for its emergency livestock feed grain program. But this program would be of little or no help to commercial producers. It contributes $1 a hundredweight toward the purchase of livestock feed for needy farmers, but only for the purpose of maintaining foundation or basic herds of cattle, sheep and goats.

Guardsman Injured By Cool Drink Bottle

Remsen, N. Y., July 22 (P)—A 20-year-old National Guardsman was in a hospital today, the victim of a hot-weather good deed.

Anthony Garguilo of (125 Bloomfield Ave.) Verona, N. J., was struck on the head accidentally Saturday by a bottle as he rode in a convoy headed for Camp Drum.

State police said the bottle was among refreshments tossed to men in the convoy by volunteer firemen attending a field day.

Mercy Hospital in Watertown said last night Garguilo was in fair condition. He underwent an emergency operation for a laceration near his eye.

Troopers said Garguilo was riding in an open army truck as the convoy passed the firemen's celebration on Route 12 about three miles north of this Oneida county village.

The guardsmen were enroute to Camp Drum for their annual two-week training period.

Bumps Mayflower

New York, July 22 (P)—A pleasure boat bumped into the bow of the Mayflower II yesterday. About 30 visitors were aboard the sailing ship at her Hudson river pier. None was hurt. The sturdy oak hull was undamaged. Police said the 75-foot pleasure craft, "Big Pebble" of Miami Beach, Fla., backed into the Mayflower to avoid colliding with a sightseeing boat. The aft railing of the "Big Pebble" was damaged. The Mayflower, a replica of the original pilgrim ship, is on exhibit here.

New York, July 22 (P)—British actor Wilfrid Hyde White, 54, was married to a 25-year-old Brooklyn-born actress yesterday in a quiet ceremony at the Universalist Church of the Divine Paternity. White and his bride, Ethel Koreman, plan to live in England. The actor has a 27-year-old son by a previous marriage that ended in divorce. Miss Koreman was not previously married.

London Church, Rebuilt With U. S. Steel, to Reopen

London, July 22 (P)—London's oldest church, destroyed by wartime bombing and rebuilt with gift steel from the United States, is being reopened tomorrow to carry on work begun 13 centuries ago.

To this church, All Hallows By-the-Tower, the headless bodies of famous Britons were carried after the executioner did them in at the Tower of London. Here William Penn was baptized in 1644 and John Quincy Adams married in 1797.

Its American connections are carried on today by the Rev. J. B. M. Frederick, an Episcopal clergyman from Rye, N. Y., he is an assistant on the church staff.

There has been a church on the site since the days of the Saxon kings. It may date to 604; records show it was definitely standing in 675.

Three times during World War 2 it was hit by German bombs. All that remained was the crypt and undercroft, the shell of the tower and the bare stone walls.

Worldwide Campaign

Men who planned the rebuilding of London chalked off the church as a hopeless case and suggested that a highway be routed over the site. The vicar, the Rev. Philip Clayton, moved in a batch of building materials to claim "squatters' rights" and opened a worldwide campaign to get it rebuilt.

He said he wouldn't need a single item of any of Britain's scarce rebuilding materials and went abroad to appeal for the steel, wood, copper and lead he required. He came back with promises of steel from the United States, timber from Australia, Canada and New Zealand, copper from southern Rhodesia, tiles and lead from Canada.

Queen Mother to Attend

Planning authorities relented, and the new church—"Reborn, revived, a Phoenix from the ashes," says the Rev. Mr. Clayton—will be rededicated tomorrow.

row in the presence of Queen Mother Elizabeth.

A group of American students known as the Winant Volunteers—named after the United States wartime ambassador to Britain John G. Winant—will be presented to the Queen Mother after the ceremony.

The Winant Volunteers—this year's group includes 35 men and 21 women—pay their own way to Britain during the summer vacation period and work with the vicar of All Hallows on an assortment of welfare assignments throughout London's east end.

Vicar Clayton organized these volunteers 10 years ago.

Health and a Fall

By Charles A. Weaver, D. C.

An accident need not be severe to be followed by dire result. Falls sometimes slight, which at the time are passed unnoticed, are responsible for nerve impingement, the effects of which are serious indeed. That is an important thing to remember in this day when automobile and other accidents are so common.

One need not be cut or bruised, nor need one have broken bones in order for an accident to have been serious. If one or more segments of the spine are displaced sufficiently to produce pressure on nerve trunks, the tissues supplied by those nerve trunks cannot function normally. If the pressure is slight and if the surrounding tissues are uninjured, nature often automatically corrects these spinal abnormalities. If, however, this displacement is not automatically corrected, it means that a slow process of tissue depletion begins. This may involve the digestive tract, the kidneys, the heart, or other vital organs. So long as the nerve pressure persists, the illness will continue. That is why the precaution of seeing a chiropractor should be taken following falls and accidents. Chiropractors usually make no charge for consultation.

10,000 an Hour

By FRANK TRIPP

While you read this, 900 puppies and kittens will be born in the United States; 10,000 an hour; a quarter of a million every day; half of them born to suffer.

Oh well, you think, most of them are put away at once; the others become some child's pet. You're wrong, for the astonishing figure is 21 times greater than the number of children born; 85 million a year, 35 million dogs, 50 million kittens; more than two pets for every child under 10 years in America.

At this moment there are 15 million homeless dogs and 25 million homeless cats that never should have been born. Much of the blame for the agonies and the cruelty they suffer rests upon people who boast their love for animals.

The Humane Society of the United States and its local branches cannot alone meet the overwhelming problem of stray and homeless creatures or curb the ever mounting multiplication.

THERE ARE animal haters who would hunt down and slay all of the dogs and cats. Even these are less cruel than people who suffer their pets to yield unwanted young.

They may find homes for all of their litter but every unsterilized female that they let live adds to the cruelty and suffering, and the Humane Society's problems. Because they add to the surplus that is beyond control.

Dogs of breed that cost up into the hundreds get the care of a child, some kittens too. The unwanted ones go through agonies that break one's heart; brutality, hunger, cold; maimed and vivisectioned.

The lucky ones are those apprehended, found homes or dispatched by Humane Society painless methods. Most would be luckier never born.

THE PLEA of the humane authorities is that female pets not intended for breeding purposes, whose young would get the same tender care of the mother, be at once spayed or castrated. The source of control rests completely with the female, not with the male.

If the masters of dogs and cats who pretend so much love for animals would follow this course much of the surplus problem would be solved and unwanted little creatures would not be doomed to suffer and cost taxpayers and humanitarians 50 million dollars a year to rescue and control.

The responsibility rests squarely upon people who breed puppies and kittens that they themselves cannot or will not keep and humanely maintain.

THE CERTAIN COURSE is to own no female pet that by maturity has not been spayed. Promiscuous breeding of millions of little sufferers can in this way be confined largely to the homeless already at large and can in time be minimized.

Spaying is an inexpensive, simple, painless average 20-minute operation by a competent veterinarian. Spayed females invariably are more even tempered and affectionate, and they stay home.

It is not true that they tend to overweight and dullness. There could be no brighter, active, satisfactory pets than the three of them that have brightened our home.

Please, won't you help reduce the 10,000 an hour to a number that will be wanted, cared for and loved?

Canadian Army Has Only 46,684

Ottawa, July 22 (AP)—Canada's army has dropped to 46,684 men—the lowest number since 1951. With no draft, Canada depends on volunteers for all its services.
Pay hikes announced last week for the armed forces may increase enlistments. A recruit's pay now is $104, while a fully trained private with six years' experience gets $171 a month.
In March 1952 during the Korean war buildup the army numbered 49,278.
Air force personnel totals 50,644 and the navy 19,150. Total strength of the armed forces was 116,478 at the end of May compared with 117,177 at the end of last year.

Thus Canada, with a population about a tenth that of the United States, has about one twenty-fifth as many men under arms.

'Madama Butterfly' With Elaine Malbin Features Final Ellenville Music Week

An opera, a ballet evening and an afternoon concert round out the fourth and final week of the 1957 season of the Empire State Music Festival, Ellenville, which commences Thursday evening, July 25, and terminates on Sunday afternoon, July 28.

The opera is Puccini's lilted "Madama Butterfly." It will be presented as a full stage production on Thursday night and again on Saturday night. Elaine Malbin, brilliant American soprano, will sing the title role. A favorite of opera, concert and television audiences, the beautiful songstress will be making her debut at the Festival. David Poleri, internationally renowned dramatic tenor, will have the role of Lt. Pinkerton, and John Tyers, baritone, acclaimed both on Broadway and the world of music, will give life to Sharpless. For the record, incidentally, Miss Malbin won critical aclades coast to coast for her Butterfly when the opera was televised in its entirety by the NBC Opera Theatre.

Fausto Cleve, veteran conductor of the Metropolitan Opera, will conduct the Symphony of the Air in the Puccini work. Desiree Defrere will stage the opera. The set has been designed by James Seine.

Friday evening, July 26, will be given over to the American debut of two of Hungary's most dance stars, Vera Pasztor and Erno Vashegyi, who escaped the Russians during the Hungarian revolution last fall. Former stars of the State Opera of Budapest and since their escape luminaries of the Zurich Festival, assisted by a corps de ballet will be in a Bartok-Kodaly program. A feature of the evening will be a corps de ballet that will feature Bartok's "Miraculous Mandarin" and Kodaly's "Hary Janos" suite. The Symphony of the Air will accompany the dancers under the baton of Laszlo Halasz. The sets will be by James Seine.

MRS. RICHARD P. RUTH, JR. (Pennington photo)

Miss Shirley Jean Boice, daughter of Myron Boice of Sawkill and the late Mrs. Elinor S. Boice, became the bride of Richard P. Ruth, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard P. Ruth, Sr., of 86 Pearl street on Sunday, July 14 at 2 p. m., in St. Joseph's Church.

Officiating for the double ring ceremony was the Rev. James V. Keating.

Mrs. Frank Rafferty was at the organ and Mrs. Myron Boice, Jr., sister-in-law of the bride, sang the "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus."

White gladioli and white bows marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ruffled marquisette flanked in a rose pattern fashioned with an elongated bodice, short tucked sleeves and a sculptured neckline. The bouffant floor length skirt was composed of tier on tier of ruffled marquisette. Her French illusion veil, chapel length, was shirred to a bridal cap trimmed with seed pearls and iridescent paillettes. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and white gladioli.

Mrs. William McGinnis, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a gown of azure blue nylon organza fashioned with a fitted bodice, short sleeves and a very full waltz length skirt. She wore a braided cap of nylon to which was attached a circular tulle flirtation veil.

Mrs. McGinnis carried a cascade bouquet of pink carnations and pink gladioli.

Serving as bridesmaids were Miss Nancy A. Boice, cousin of the bride and Miss Grace L. Cutridge. Their gowns in pink were identical in styling to that worn by the honor attendant. They carried cascade bouquets of pink carnations, pink gladioli and blue delphiniums.

Frank McSpirt of Sawkill road was the best man. Ushers included Roger S. Boice, brother of the bride and Donald J. Moxham of 65 Staples street.

A reception was held at the Alpine for approximately 100 guests.

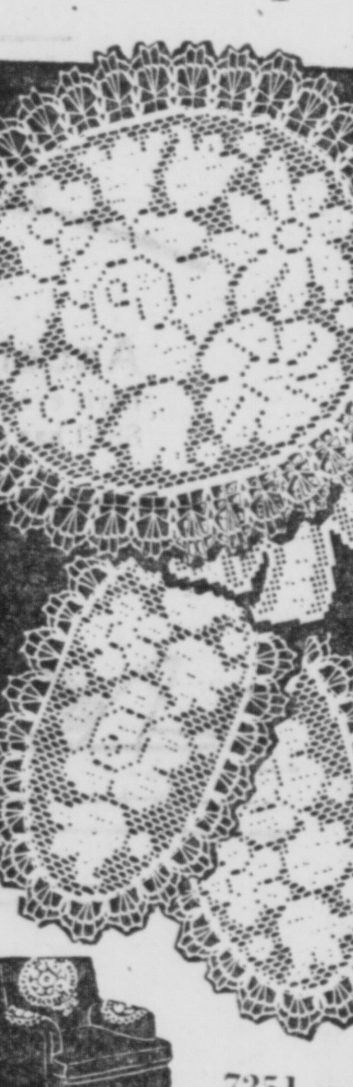

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School and State University of New York, Delhi. She is employed as a secretary by IBM in Kingston.

The bridegroom graduated from Kingston High School, served four years in the navy and is employed in the personnel department of IBM.

For her wedding trip through New England, the bride wore a pink dress with white accessories and an orchid.

The couple will make their home at 111-A Fairmont avenue.

RESPONSIBILITY FOR YOUNG GIRL

Dear Mrs. Post: My cousin's daughter recently came to this city to work. When she could not find a place to live within her means, I asked her to come and stay with us, as we had an extra room. My daughter who is this girl's same age was delighted. Everything went well for awhile but she has suddenly taken to staying out very late. I do not approve of this at all as she is still rather young and I certainly wouldn't allow my own daughter to do this. I feel that since she is living with us I am more or less responsible for her and I think she should conform to the rules of the house. My daughter thinks it would be very wrong for me to say anything to her as I have no right to tell her when to come and go. I am sure her own mother would not approve of the hours she keeps. As she is living under my roof, don't you think I have a right to say something?

Answer: As long as she is living in your house you not only have the right to see that she comes in at a reasonable hour, but it is your duty. If her mother tells you she does not object, that would be a different story.

Multiple Introductions

Dear Mrs. Post: How should I introduce two or more persons to a group? Does one have to keep repeating the names each time, which always seems so awkward and confusing?

Answer: You merely say, "Mrs. Jones, Mr. Smith"—and then give the names of the others as they happen to come. Don't skip around and introduce the women first and then go back and introduce the men. This, too, only adds confusion. If someone in the group is not paying attention, you would then have to call her (or him) by name and then repeat the names of the newcomers. But not otherwise.

At a Second Wedding

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper, at a second wedding reception, to have a white-iced wedding cake with a miniature bride and groom on the top of it, or is this for a first wedding only?

Answer: While such a cake is unusual at a second wedding there will be no impropriety if you wish to have one.

Mrs. Post's leaflet E-16, "Table Rules of Importance," describes how to eat lobster, soup in cups, cheese and baked potato. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. New Paltz Group Sponsors Art Show

New Paltz Art Association will hold its annual summer show on Saturday, Aug. 3, at the Elting Memorial Library in that historic village, Mrs. Joyce Tenny, president of the Association, announced today.

The show is part of the annual Library Fair held on Stone House Day in New Paltz. Stone House Day celebrates the settlement of New Paltz by the French Huguenots more than 250 years ago. Many of the original settlers' homes, built on Huguenot street, still stand and will be open to the public on August 3.

The New Paltz Art Exhibit will be held in the tree-shaded back yard of the Elting Memorial Library, located at the corner of Main and North streets in New Paltz. The paintings may be seen from noon until 8 p. m.

According to Mrs. Tenny, the art show will have something to please everyone. There will be landscapes, portraits, moderns, seascapes and many other subjects to see. Some of the paintings will be for sale and a percentage of the sale price of those sold will be given to aid the Library.

Local Troops Have Part in Success Of Scout Jamboree

BY DAVID EIGHMEY

The fourth National Jamboree of the Boy Scouts of America is now a matter of history—and the three troops from the Rip Van Winkle Council played a large part in the success of Region 2, Section 10.

Local Boy Scouts participated in the Region 2 choir, received the jamboree awards for activities in seven various events, and spread the name of the local council across the records of the section in a manner in which the attendance will not forget.

Specifically, the local drum corps participated in seven different events, the members of the local Order of The Arrow Lodge presented Indian dances, Jamboree Troop 20 posted a humorous record with their improvised band, and Jamboree Troop 21 was the only outfit in Section 10 to post a straight-A inspection during the entire Jamboree.

Visit Washington

Friday the local Jamboree troops visited Washington, D. C. During the course of this trip, the scouts visited in four states and the District of Columbia. The changing of the guard on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington Cemetery was witnessed, along with visits to the Lincoln Memorial, the Capitol building, and various other points of interest. During the tour of the Capitol itself, the Scouts visited a session of the House of Representatives.

The Rip Van Winkle contingents broke camp early Saturday morning and the first section in charge of Scoutmaster Henry P. Eighmey left Valley Forge at 9:15 with the other units following in short order.

Ham Has Part

A rather unusual occurrence came to light during the last part of the jamboree when one of the local boys became ill and his family was notified through the efforts of ham radio operators. A ham operator near Valley Forge was notified of the boy's recovery and asked to send the message through to Kingston. This was reportedly accomplished through a system where the message was relayed from one point to another and finally delivered by telephone to the boy's family by a local radio operator in Kingston.

The local Boy Scouts reported an enjoyable time at the jamboree, making new friends from all over the country and bringing home many curios obtained through the medium of swapping.

Turnau Opera Players Offer Gala Concert

Turnau Opera Players will offer a gala concert as its fourth bill of the current summer season in Woodstock, Byrdcliffe Theatre. Later in the week it will offer a world premiere.

The week will open with a repeat performance of the two short operas "The Old Maid and The Thief," by Menotti and "Grand Slam," by Vernon, on Tuesday.

The following evening at 8:30 p. m. the Turnau group will offer in its gala concert, scenes from the operas "The Marriage of Figaro" by Mozart, "La Traviata," by Verdi and "Faust," by Gounod.

The group's first concert was presented last season as a special bonus to subscribers. It proved such an overwhelming success that it was decided to make a concert of this type one of the regular bills of the season. Featured during the evening will be soprano Carolyn Christian and Lucille Sullam; baritone David Clatworthy and Robert Shuster; tenors Harold Johnson and William Nahr; and mezzo-soprano Jan Ruetz. Additional gala concert will be offered Aug. 6 and 16.

On Friday and Saturday, July 26 and 27, Turnau Opera Players will offer one of the major events in the entire American summer musical scene, when it presents the world premiere of the new three act opera "Jacob and the Indians," by the noted young composer and Guggenheim Fellow, Ezra Laderman.

The libretto by Ernest Kinoy is adapted from a short story of the same name by Stephen Vincent Benet. Repeat performances of the new work are scheduled for Aug. 7 and 20.

Scenic and lighting designer for this and the other Turnau productions, is Tom De Gaetani. Jackson Wiley is musical director and conductor, while Barbara Owens is responsible for the direction.

The Turnau Opera Players, currently offering their third successive season in the Woodstock area, form the country's only professional summer stock opera company operating under contract with the American Guild of Musical Artists. Its performances this season have been playing to near-capacity or capacity houses, and have been greeted with critical acclaim.

Roberts-Kelso Wedding Is Held

Wallkill—Miss Lorelei Claire Roberts and Donald Kelso Sloan were united in marriage July 6 at 4 p. m. in the Wallkill Reformed Church, it was announced this week. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Walter N. Van Popering.

White gladioli and summer flowers adorned the church. Donald Rudolph was the organist and Elliott Cox, of Newburgh, uncle of the bridegroom, sang "Lord's Prayer" and "Oh, Perfect Love."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter John Roberts of Poughkeepsie, formerly of Wallkill. She was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over slipper satin, styled with Sabrina neckline, long sleeves and chapel train. A silk illusion veil was caught to a lace and tulle cloche made and styled by her mother. She carried a white rose and baby's breath bouquet.

Miss Ann Marie Murphy of Plattkill was maid of honor and the bride's cousin, Donna Marie Freer of Wallkill was flower girl. The attendants were Miss Helena Reuter and Mrs. Barbara Bedford both of Wallkill.

The attendants wore white chiffon over taffeta gowns. The maid of honor wore a pink rosebud print bodice and cummerbund. Each carried matching rosebuds in a basket and wore a picture hat. The flower girl was gowned in pale pink chiffon with pink picture hat.

Mrs. Roberts, mother of the bride wore a mauve lace dress with pink accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Sloan, bridegroom's mother, wore a lavender chiffon dress with pink hat, white accessories and a pink rosebud corsage.

John B. Sloan of Wallkill was best man for his cousin. Ushers were George Backofen, and John Edebohlis of Wallkill and the junior ushers were Kenneth H. Roberts of Poughkeepsie, brother of the bride, and Robert Cox of Newburgh, cousin of the bridegroom.

A reception followed in the Church Hall before the couple left on a three week trip through the Adirondacks. The bride's traveling ensemble included a white embroidered lace over pink taffeta dress, white and pink accessories and an orchid corsage.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Sloan are graduates of Wallkill Central School and are employed in the military products division of IBM, Kingston. They have been transferred to the Owego Plant and will reside at 108 Main street in Owego. Mr. Sloan is also a graduate of Orange County Community College.

Edwin W. Ashby, commissioner of jurors, will be guest speaker.

Following the business session, refreshments will be served.

Agatha Christie Play Next at Cragmoor

GAYLORD MASON

The accused in "Witness for the Prosecution" several weeks ago, Gaylord Mason will be seen as the detective in the forthcoming Agatha Christie mystery, "The Mousetrap," according to Elaine Perry and Irl Mowery, managers of the Cragmoor Playhouse. Opening Wednesday, this thriller will give full scope to Mr. Mason's many talents, and the many friends he has made in the past few seasons at Cragmoor will be delighted with his role.

A native New Yorker, Mr. Mason has appeared on Broadway with some of the biggest names in show business—Fredric March, Helen Hayes, Cornelia Otis Skinner and many others. This past season he was seen with Menasha Skulnick in "Uncle Willie." Television viewers and radio listeners will remember him for his outstanding performances. A man of many talents, he also writes music and was responsible for the musical score of Christopher Morley's "Trojan Horse." For the past few seasons, in addition to his appearances on stage, screen and radio, he has been teaching drama at the High School of Performing Arts in New York city, and a few of his pupils are now apprentices at Cragmoor.

While "The Mousetrap" has not been seen in this country, it has been playing in London for five years, and is still doing capacity business. It is considered one of Miss Christie's best thrillers, and as usual with her plays, the solution to the crime is most unexpected. Her cast of characters include some weird people, among them a crochety old woman who will be portrayed by that able interpreter of character role, Dinnie Smith.

Briefly, the story concerns a Manor Guest House, willed to Mollie and Giles Ralston by an aunt. Shortly before the first guests arrive, news has come over the radio that a woman has been found murdered, and a man is suspected. A subsequent blizzard soon blocks all roads, and it is apparent that the guests are trapped and that no one can leave. Detective Sergeant Trotter arrives on skis, explains that the murderer is thought to be in the vicinity of the guest house. It is soon evident that any one of the guests, none of whom are known to one another, could have been the murderer. The mounting tension will keep everyone on the edge of their seats, and whodunit fans will go out of their minds trying to solve the mystery.

Among the characters in "The Mousetrap," Sefton Darr and Ray Gandolf will appear as the owners of the Manor; Arthur

Commencing Wednesday, July 31, the Cragmoor Playhouse will present "Anniversary Waltz."

Phoenicia Playhouse Features Mystery

Phoenicia Playhouse has chosen to present "Speaking of Murder" as its fourth production of the season.

"Speaking of Murder" is a simulating mystery play written by William and Audrey Roos, the team which also writes "The Life of Riley" series. It will be performed Tuesday, July 23, through Sunday, July 28. Curtain is at 8:40 p. m. New Yorkers will remember this "who done it" from its opening in December, 1956 at the Royale Theatre on Broadway. It was staged by Delbert Mann and presented by Courtney Barr and Burgess Meredith.

The circumstances are a little anomalous at first. Charles Ashton, the celebrated architect has a library thirteen shelves high and a vault both sound proof and moth proof built in the living room. He has just married a famous actress to replace his first wife, lost or pushed in a fatal accident. Annabelle Logan, his first wife's friend and quite attractive, has taken over the house, the children and the servants, and has also consoled the widower once of twice surreptitiously. Thus she cannot be eliminated without some type of struggle.

Miss Leona Van Zandt will be featured in the role of Annabelle Logan. Audiences will remember having seen her portrayal of the conjur woman in the recent performance of "Dark of the Moon."

Marguerite Lenert will be cast as Mrs. Walworth, blackmailer, who eventually reconciles herself to murder. Miss Lenert recently won an "Obie" for "distinguished performance by an actress" in the Circle in the Square production of "House of Breath." She has also been featured on television in "Robert Montgomery Presents" and "Studio One."

Katherine Helmond, the female lead in the company's production of "Years Ago" will play the part of Connie Ashton. Miss Helmond was recently screened by MGM for her sensitive portrayal of Birdie in "Another Part of the Forest" in New York this season.

Walter Kerr of the New York Herald Tribune said this in his review: "In its engagingly idiotic way the show gets to you. If you can just let your mind alone for two and a half hours you are going to find "Speaking of Murder" splendid fun."

Library Open House

The Olive Library Association will hold its fifth annual open house on Wednesday evening, July 24, at the library in West Shokan. A movie will be shown and other entertainment provided. Refreshments will be served. Visitors are welcome.

He Who Waits Scores High

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

The game was duplicate and East was interested only in top scores. The way to get top scores is to create bidding problems for the enemy and hope they will go wrong.

With that idea in mind East opened with three diamonds. South chose to overcall with three spades rather than to double and West tried three no-trump. North went to four spades and East continued his search for a top with a bid of five diamonds.

If South had chosen to double East would have been just about as far away from a top as possible but South was now in the swing of bidding. South really expected to make five spades and overlooked the fact that if he could make five spades the chances were that East and West would be down at least 500 at their diamond contract. Actually they would only have been down one but that would be enough to give North and South a top score.

Anyway, South bid five spades and West doubled. His vulnerable partner had bid three and five diamonds with a bad suit (he had to have something or other on the side) and West could count two sure defensive tricks in his own hand.

West opened the king of diamonds. South ruffed and led a spade to dummy's ace. A heart was played next and South's king fell to West's ace.

At this point West made a play that many good players overlook. He cashed his high trump and exited with a club. If he had led the club first South would have been able to escape with a one trick loss by the simple expedient of taking his ace and king of clubs and throwing West in with that high trump. As it was South had to go down two and East had his top score.

Liberace Has Guards

Hollywood, July 22 (AP)—The San Fernando Valley homes of pianist Liberace and his two brothers are being watched by armed guards. The guards have been posted as a result of the attack made last Thursday night on the pianist's mother, Mrs. Frances Liberace Casadonte. She said two big men jumped on her and beat her unconscious on the service porch of Liberace's home. She is in a hospital. Liberace's attorney, John R. Jacobs Jr., said the guards were posted yesterday at the home of the pianist and his brothers, George and Rudy, because "we can't take a chance." He added: "You don't know how to combat something you don't understand. What else can we do?"

SWEETIE PIE

By Nadine Seltzer

"Hey, why don't you show Mom how you pulled her bow last week?"

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

New York, July 22 (AP)—The treasury's bow to costly money is building up new pressure today for another general rise in interest rates.

The money managers credit high interest rates and tight money with holding the business boom and its traveling companion, inflation, to a crawl.

Would-be borrowers, on the other hand, charge that tight credit and costly charges are causing a personalized recession for them. In some cases, they say, it is keeping them from expanding their plants or building needed schools.

Bankers' View

Bankers who have been wanting to raise their loan charges to merchants, manufacturers and farmers see the treasury's recognition of a high going rate for money as justification.

Those who have been expecting the federal reserve banks to hike again the discount rate they charge when lending to member banks are now asking if this won't be done after the treasury clears its 24 billion dollar financing deal in the next few weeks.

The treasury is offering 4 per cent interest—twice what it did two summers ago, and the highest it has paid since 1953 ushered in the era of cheap money.

That is because the treasury is anxious for the holders of the 24 billion dollars of maturing securities to exchange them for the new offerings. Apparently it fears that if it offers any less than 4 per cent many of the present holders will ask for cash instead—they could use that cash for investments paying higher returns.

This would force the Treasury to go into the market again to seek "new money," and embarrassment it would rather avoid.

Bond Market Influence

The government bond market has a big influence on all interest rates. And the new high price the Treasury is paying is widely expected to give the nudge to the long discussed rise in the banks' prime rate.

This is the charge that the banks' best risks pay. It is now 4 per cent. Borrowers below this top credit rating—and most small businessmen are—pay higher interest.

In New York banking circles they talk of raising the prime rate to 4½ per cent, now that the government bond rate is 4 per cent. Some think that the Federal Reserve, when and if it moves, will go from the present 3 per cent discount rate to 3½ per cent.

It is widely agreed that the Treasury is offering 4 per cent because it believes it must. Doubtless it would prefer to borrow at 2 per cent as it could in 1955. But it is competing in a money market where the demand for money and credit is huge and growing.

Corporations, local governments, individuals all want to borrow, and security offerings flood the market.

Investors have a wide choice of where to place their funds and can ask and get higher interest. Older Treasury bonds bearing 2½ per cent interest are being sold now for as much as 14 points below their face value.

Another general rise in interest rates, if it comes, likely will fire a new round of protest in some business circles and in Congress where there are wide differences of opinion on the merits and faults of tight money.

Earnings Drop

Buffalo, N. Y., July 22 (AP)—National Gypsum Co. has reported a 30 per cent drop in earnings and a 14 per cent drop in sales in the first half of 1957 from last year's record highs. Earnings were $6,220,427 or $1.57 a share in the first six months of this year, compared with $8,934,684 or $2.32 a share in the same period last year. Sales were $69,891,321, compared with $81,394,696 a year ago. In the report Saturday board chairman Melvin H. Baker attributed the decline to "a substantial cut-back in home construction."

Sniper Faces Assault For Shot at Neighbor

Buffalo, N. Y., July 22 (AP)—A sniper who police say barricaded himself in a room with a small arsenal and wounded a neighbor with a .22-caliber rifle bullet last night was held today on a charge of first degree assault.

Anthony J. Thamm, 66, was arrested last night after police broke into a room on the third floor of his house while a detective distracted his attention by shouting at him from the street.

They said they found a loaded .22 caliber revolver and single-barrel pump shotgun, plus two razors, seven knives, and several hundred rounds of ammunition. Thamm, a retired meat cutter, could give no reasonable explanation for his actions, they said.

Cyril W. Bussman, 60 said he was wounded in the chest as he was sitting on his front steps across from Thamm's house. He said he heard a popping noise, but paid no attention until he felt a stinging in his chest. He was treated at a hospital and discharged.

Police said two other bullets had hit his house.

Steltz, Short Pitch Kingston to Ulster Jr. Legion Title

Righties Stymie Saugerties in Weekend Series Local Club Qualifies For District 3 Tourney

Strong mound efforts by righthanders Danny Steltz and Bob Short carried the Kingston Old Capital Motors baseball squad to the Ulster County Junior American Legion championship over the weekend. The two hurlers permitted just one run in 14 innings as the local club vanquished the Saugerties American Legion, 4-0, and 8-1 in the county elimination best-of-three tournament.

The impressive victories qualified Kingston for the District Three tourney which gets under way Friday at Dietz Stadium. Kingston has drawn the Rensselaer county champions and will play at 8:30 p. m.

Steltz strong-armed Saugerties into submission Saturday at Cantine Field with a three-hit shutout. Short came back Sunday night at the stadium to end a sparkling four-hitter.

Williams Homers

Charlie Williams belted a three-run homer in the last frame to give Steltz a cushion and break open a tense duel between the local twirler and Dick Elliott. Up until then, it was anyone's game with Kingston clinging to a slender 1-0 advantage.

Two errors got the runners on ahead of Williams with one out. Then the pepper-pot shortstop unloaded to deep right center for the clincher. The ball rolled to the 457 foot marker before being retrieved.

Steltz, who struck out six and walked but one, was aided by some brilliant defensive plays. Second sacker Don Krueger came up with a couple of sparklers and so did leftfielder Jackie Niles.

3-Hitter for Elliott

Elliott also fashioned a three-hitter and probably would have won on some other day. He whiffed nine before giving way to Don Mormile who got the last out.

Two uprisings, in the first and sixth, helped make things easy for Short in the title clincher. The tow-headed speedballer allowed Saugerties to score its lone run of the series in the opening round, but clamped down after that and stymied the victims the rest of the way.

Niles' bases loaded two-out single in Kingston's first turn at bat got the locals the lead back and started them off winging. On the hit, all three runners scored and Kingston had enough to beat Saugerties and Mormile who went 5 2/3 innings.

Mormile Chased

Mormile was chased in the sixth as Kingston erupted for four markers. Singles by Short, Williams and Krueger were sandwiched between three walks, two wild pitches and a passed ball and did the scoring damage. Barry Wolven relieved and got the last out.

Short fanned eight and passed two in his dazzler. Mormile whiffed seven and issued three free tickets.

Dodgers, Giants Tied in Y Loop

Dodgers and Giants stayed tied for first place in the YMCA Small Fry League by posting victories. Dodgers swamped the White Sox, 21-5, while Giants had to go nine innings to edge Indians, 8-7.

Yankees nosed out Pirates, 14-12 in other action.

Umpires were Justin Beck, Rusty Peterson and Frank Rebollo.

Sickler Wins DeWitt '300', 2 Other Swimming Events

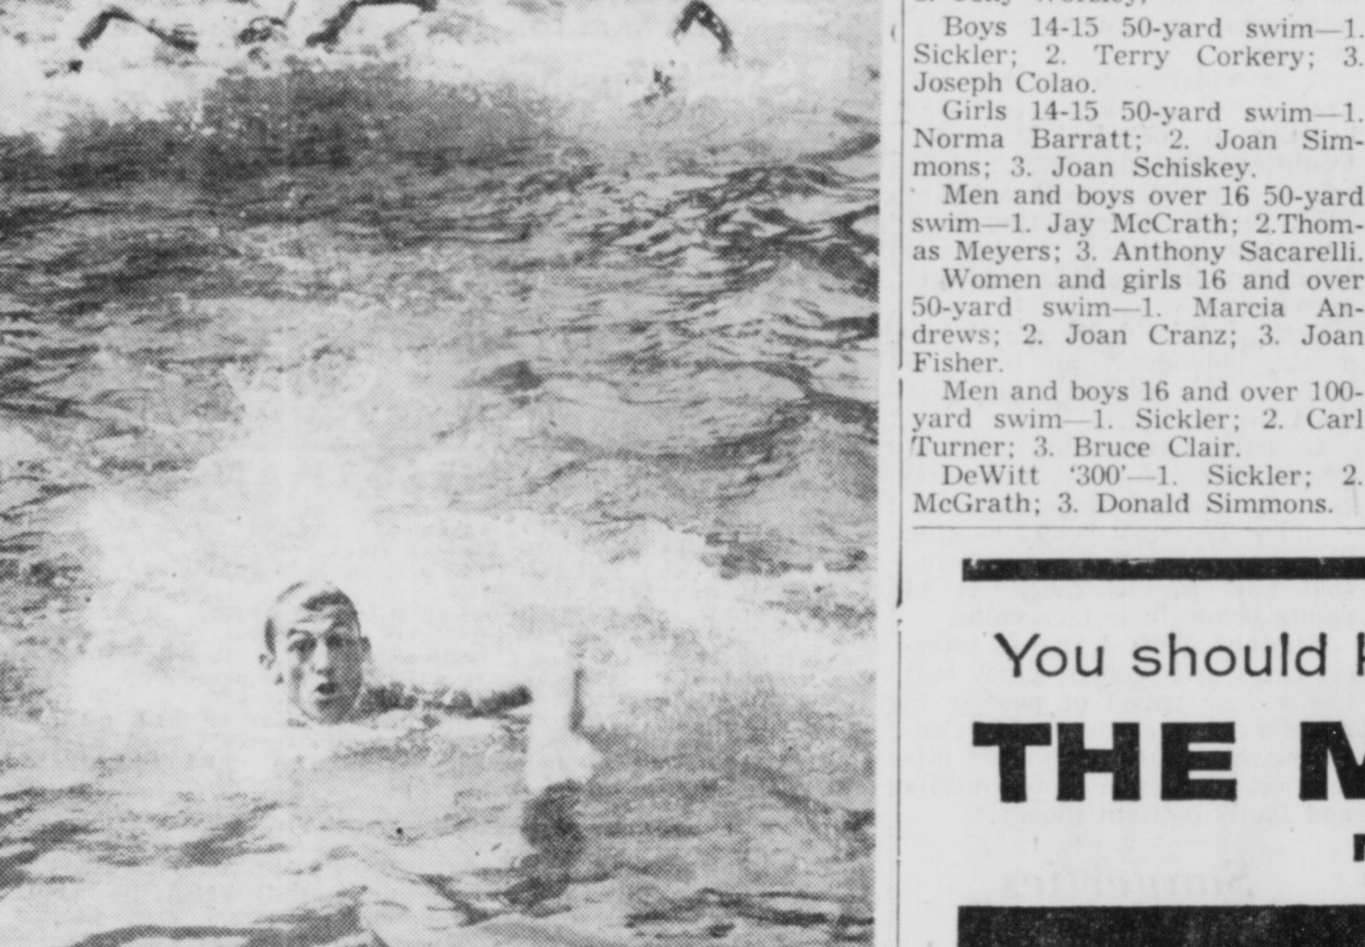

Kenneth Sickler won the featured DeWitt '300' and two other events to take the lion's share of the honors at the 12th annual DeWitt Lake swimming races Sunday.

Sickler, a powerful swimmer with unorthodox form, splashed to victory ahead of 10 other crack area mermen in the '300' going away. He took command at the outset and never relinquished the lead, although threatened once by Jay McGrath of Eddyville who tired with about 100 yards to go.

Other triumphs for Sickler came in the 50-yard and 100-yard events. More than 800 persons were attracted to the program which was reported to be the most successful in history.

Eight Events

Eight events in all were contested in boys, girls, men and women's classes. The meet, which attracted 50 swimmers, was open to any one in Ulster county.

Hebert's Victory in PGA Adds New Name to Scrolls

Dayton, Ohio, July 22 (P)—Finsterwald, a calm young shotmaker who doesn't panic, got two holes back in short order and finally squared the match at the 30th hole. Undismayed, Hebert rolled in a long birdie putt at the 31st, then birdied the next two while Finsterwald matched strokes with him. Hebert finally got another hole for a cushion when Finsterwald put his second shot in a ditch at the 34th.

The younger Hebert is 29, a native of Lafayette, La.

Hoening Defeats Billows for Title

Avon, Conn., July 22 (P)—Amateur Don Hoening won one tournament yesterday and got a big jump towards another triumph.

In nearby Wethersfield, he defeated medalist Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., 3 and 2, in an 18-hole match to take the 20th Wethersfield Invitation golf tournament.

Then, Hoening, who captured the state amateur title last month, journeyed here and took a three-stroke lead in the first round of the Connecticut open with a six-under par, 35-30-65. He's the defending champion.

Ayala Tennis Victor

Duesseldorf, Germany, July 21 (P)—Luis Ayala, of Chile, won the men's singles title at the Rochus international tennis tournament today, beating Australia's Mel Anderson, 6-4, 6-2, 6-4.

In the women's division, South Africa's Valerie Forbes scored an upset by defeating England's Pat Ward, 6-1, 6-3.

Pair Spark Sweep of Phils

Crowe, Lawrence Keep Reds In Thick of Pennant Chase

(By The Associated Press)

The pitching of Brooks Lawrence and the hitting of George Crowe, a pair of buffeted-about ball players, has the hot-and-cold Cincinnati Redlegs sizzling again, spelling bad news for the other four pretenders to the National League throne.

They said Lawrence was lucky last year when he won 19 games with Cincinnati. They said Crowe, obtained from Milwaukee last year for a third stringer named Bob Hazle, was too old, too slow, and too weak with the stick.

Today the Redlegs, following their 4-2 and 6-4 doubleheader sweep over Philadelphia Sunday, are only two games behind the pace-setting Milwaukee Braves, largely because Brooks turned in his 11th triumph of the season and Crowe walloped his 22nd home run.

Other NL Games

In other National League games, Milwaukee split with New York, winning the second game 7-4 after the Giants had taken the opener 5-4. Brooklyn split with Chicago, winning the second game 7-2 after the Cubs had won the first game 5-4. St. Louis defeated Pittsburgh 7-3 in 10 innings and led 11-2 with one out in the top of the ninth when the second game curfew law.

Chicago's White Sox pulled within 4½ games of the American League leading New York Yankees, shutting out the Boston Red Sox 3-0 while Cleveland was holding the New Yorkers even in their doubleheader. A crowd of 51,670, largest in two years in Cleveland, saw the Indians come from behind to down the Yankees 7-4 after losing the opener 4-3.

Detroit nipped Washington 6-5 in 10 innings when rookie pitcher Jim Heise walked across the winning run with the bases loaded. Kansas City prevented Baltimore from moving into a fifth place tie with Detroit by winning the second game 3-2 after the Orioles had won the opener 7-2.

Nagler Captures Jaycee Net Title

Niagara Falls, N. Y., July 22 (P)—Larry Nagler of Nassau has won the State Junior Chamber of Commerce tennis championship.

Nagler notched the Junior title for players 18 and under by defeating Andy Gilmore, also of Nassau, 6-4, 6-4, 6-2 Saturday.

Allan Green of Queens beat Dave Bonner of Poughkeepsie, 6-2, 6-1 to win the Boys' division championship for players 15 and under.

Kawula Gets Nod

Hollywood, July 21 (P)—Underdog Pete Kawula, 129½, of Chicago, battered out a unanimous decision last night over Ernesto Figueroa, 129, of Mexico City, in their 10-round main event at Legion Stadium.

Saugerties Baseball Honors Harry Desmond

Saugerties fans and old time baseball stars of Kingston and Saugerties defied the searing heat to pay tribute to Harry Desmond in a rousing demonstration of nostalgia and old lace Sunday at Cantine Field in Saugerties.

The veteran player-umpire-official, who spent more than 50 years in the game, received a purse and the plaudits of the largest Saugerties turnout in many years.

The highlight of the program was a three-inning Old Timers contest in which Kingston routed their ancient foes, 16 to 3, under a broiling sun that sent the temperature over the 100 mark on the baseball diamond.

In the regular exhibition, the Tyler Aces of Pittsfield defeated the Saugerties Dutchmen of the New York-New Jersey League, 9 to 6.

Lauded By Officials
Mayor George P. Holmes of Saugerties and town supervisor, Pete Williams, paid tribute to Desmond's contribution to the sport and his work with junior baseball programs in Saugerties. Charles J. Tiano, Freeman sports editor, was the master of ceremonies.

Desmond responded in an emotion-choked speech in which he stated: "This is the happiest moment of my baseball career and a day I will remember as long as I live."

Before the start of the Old Timers contest, players from both teams lined up along the first and third base lines and were introduced.

The Kingston squad had too much pitching in Bill (Pucker) Davis for Saugerties which was shy on elbow talent. Davis limited the hometown greybeards to four hits, while Kingston collected eight off Howie Fluhr, Ted Freiligh, Joe Buytins and Oscar Schlenker and were aided and abetted by myriad wild pitches, stolen bases and walks.

Lay Slugs Homer
Charlie Lay, the feared slugger of yesteryear, demonstrated he has lost none of his power when he slammed a line drive that mesmerized Harry Whitaker and soared over his left to deep for a home run. Bill Terwilliger rapped a triple for Saugerties.

Bill Bush, the only left handed catcher in captivity, slammed a single and double and Davis had two singles for Kingston. Normie Niles, Millie Berardi and Pete Ferraro were the defensive stars for Kingston.

Saugerties Dutchmen got off to a 4-0 lead against Pittsfield in the first inning, but the Bay State reliever, Castori, permitted only two runs the rest of the way. Meanwhile the Tylers scored three in the third and four in the fifth to gain a lead they never relinquished.

The Dutchmen's four runs in the first inning were the result of singles by Don McCaig and Boo Schaffer, two errors, a walk, wild pitch and Joe Martin's double. A pair of walks and singles by Goff and Rizzo produced two runs in the seventh.

Three of the Pittsfield players—Caliento, McMahon and Izzo—collected three hits, the latter belting a home run. Martin led the Dutchmen with a single and double.

Giants Sell Davis

New York, July 22 (AP)—Relief pitcher Jim Davis has been sold by the New York Giants to their Minneapolis farm club, the Giants announced today.

Colonials Drop Pair to Spring Valley Bengals

Bevy of Miscues Plague Locals In NY-NJ Games

A severe case of fumbleitis cost the Kingston Colonials a weekend doubleheader to the Spring Valley Bengals and plummeted Manager Fred Davis's tossers into the New York-New Jersey League cellar with a record of 2 wins and 8 losses.

The locals committed sixteen errors, as the Bengals took Saturday's arlighter, 12 to 6, at Dietz Stadium and dropped the Sunday game at the Rockland county diamond, 8 to 3.

The Bengals moved two notches up in the standings, past Kingston and New York Bulls, as the result of the double win. Bill Clouser, a young right hander just out of service, survived a rocky second inning to check the Colonials on a nine-hitter in the Saturday game. He fanned nine. Bill Sorrells permitted only nine safeties but for him it was the same old story of too much ragged support.

Ferraro Hurls Second
Pete D'Auria unfurled a 9-hitter and struck out the same number at Spring Valley. The Colonials scored single markers in the first, fifth and ninth innings.

Singles by Bill Chase and Tom Carlinio and a walk produced a Kingston run in the first. Bob Rybinaker's single and a throwing error by the Spring Valley shortstop accounted for a run in the fifth.

Big Jim Ferraro was touched for 11 safeties, but the Bengals but pitched effectively after the first frame. Harvey Sherman and Moe Lazaroff struck three hits apiece for Spring Valley, while Rybinaker, Chase and Carlinio hit two singles each for Kingston.

The Colonials are scheduled to play the New York Bulls in a two-night doubleheader Saturday at Dietz Stadium.

Woodstock CC Golfers Win Over Twaalfskill

Woodstock Country Club golfers won eight of 13 matches to defeat Twaalfskill swingers, 24-15, Sunday in the first half of the annual series at the village links.

George Hughes and Clarence (Dubby) Raichle captured the No. 1 match for Twaalfskill with a 3-0 decision over Boyer Gonzales and Fred Allen, but the village linksmen swept five matches by 3-0 scores to cinch the tournament. A return match is scheduled Aug. 11 at Twaalfskill.

Raichle posted low gross for the day with 35-36-71. George Hughes was runnerup with 37-35-72. Herb Waterous, 39-35, and Victor Allen, 37-37, paced the Woodstock contingent with 74s.

Other low gross totals included Henry Hartley, 40-38-78; George Schneider, 39-37-76; Harry Byrnes, 41-36-77; Boyer Gonzales, 39-37-76; Allen Waterous, 38-39-77; Lou Smith, 39-38-77.

Grand Circuit Set to Run at Vernon Downs

Vernon, N. Y., July 22 (AP)—Two stake races for two-year-old trotters tonight will open a week of Grand Circuit harness racing at Vernon Downs.

The Grand Circuit closed at Saratoga Raceway Saturday.

Twelve standardbreds are entered for the $10,000 Thomas W. Murphy Trot, with sharpshooter, Mix Hanover and Chapel Call the favorites. Yankee Lass is expected to take the $6,000 Flora Temple Stake for trotting fillies.

Tuesday, two-year-old pacers dominate the nine-race card, which includes the $10,000 Billy Direct Pace and the $7,000 Flora Temple Stake for racing fillies.

Hambletonian Test
The $10,000 Hambletonian Test and the second leg of the $20,000 Empire State Trotting Classics will be raced Wednesday night.

Hickory Smoke, winter book favorite for the Hambletonian, faces strong challenges from Bond Hanover, Buckeye Demon and Silver Way.

Rick Hanover, a five-year-old who trotted the mile in 2:01.3 in the first leg at Saratoga Raceway last Thursday, again meets Guy K. Protector at Vernon. Guy K. Protector won a race-off last week.

Thursday night, Torpid and Good Counsel are the favorites in the $10,000 Adios Pace and the $6,500 Flora Temple, respectively, for three-year-old pacers.

Torpid covered the mile in two minutes flat in winning at Saratoga last week.

Cameron Has Big Night
Del Cameron had a big night at Vernon Saturday.

He reined Knight Patrol over the mile route in 1:59 2/5 and tied the season's record for pacers. In an earlier race, he had driven outsider Newport Bunny to victory in 2:03 4/5, equalling the season's record for 3-year-old trotters held by Cassin Hanover.

Both horses are owned by Newport Stock Farm. Cameron made it three victories for the night by winning the eighth race with Arden Hanover, who trotted the mile in 2:04 3/5.

$56 Payoff
Knight Patrol paid $8.60, Newport Bunny $56, and Arden Hanover $15.

Knight Patrol's time equaled the season mark set by Dottie's Pick at Santa Anita Park in California last April.

In the fifth race, express Byrd toured the mile in 2:00 1/5, setting a season race record for 3-

Van Aken Cops President's Cup

First Pro Tourney Leaves Low Hoad With Some Problems

Forest Hills, July 22 (AP)—Low Hoad, the $125,000 fledgling of Jack Kramer's professional tennis stable, surveyed his new world today and decided he needed some immediate improvement.

"You can't afford to miss the easy ones in this league," said the big, blond Australian who signed with Kramer after he won the Wimbledon title two weeks ago. "Miss a couple when you're an amateur and you still can win, not with the pros," he said.

Hoad finished his first job for Kramer yesterday in the tournament of champions. He wound up with a 2-3 record after bowing to champion Pancho Gonzales, 9-7, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

"But I'm not discouraged," Hoad said. "After all, it was my first tournament and I thought I did all right all things considered. But I've got to get a more consistent first service, for one thing. As soon as you miss your first serve in this league, you're on the defense."

124 Former U. S. Marines File Brutality Charges

Washington, July 22 (AP) — Charges by 124 former marines that they were treated brutally by drill instructors last year have been filed with Congress.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee says the situation has been corrected and no investigation is planned.

The American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) made the charges public last night in a report asking Congress for an investigation of practices at the Marine Corps' Parris Island, S. C., recruit depot.

Gen. Randolph Mcc. Pate, commandant of the marines testified last Jan. 30 that abuses there had been corrected after a night march in which six recruits drowned.

Vinson told a reporter that the ACLU had written to him "and I replied that all the evidence they had seemed to relate to the period before the changes and improvements were made."

Nothing New, He Says
"I feel there has been a real improvement in the situation and I see nothing new in their information to investigate."

All of the 124 marines, the ACLU said, reported they had seen drill instructors strike recruits. All but one added they had seen recruits kicked.

Brutality charges attached to the report which the ACLU said took nearly a year to compile, included these assertions of brutal acts during the four months ending May 1, 1956:

"The more mistakes we made the more we were beaten. I happened to slip on a wet pavement and couldn't get up. The drill instructor jumped on my stomach. . . ."
"I saw a recruit hit in the stomach so hard he had to be operated on."

A recruit's face was scrubbed with steel wool; another said he was slapped every time he stuttered.

Assault Angle
The ACLU said it felt there was a "serious question" of violation of constitutional guarantees "that people shall be secure in their persons and not deprived of liberty without due process of law." It also questioned whether federal laws against assault on a military post had been violated.

The union's inquiry stemmed from the April 8, 1956 death march led by former S. Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon, a drill instructor. He led recruits into night-shadowed waters of a tidal flat where six drowned. McKeon was convicted at a court-martial, sentenced to six months imprisonment and reduced to private.

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON

What's income on the farm? The average wage earner should realize how little he has invested to earn 2½ to 3 bucks an hour, as compared to the farmer who feeds him and has a heavy investment in land and machinery, and often realizes less than 1 $ an hour for his time.

MR. HUTTON

Farmers work 50-60-70 hours a week to feed the money-hungry, speed-crazy, big-fropt world that shows little but disrespect and ridicule for what it calls "country rubes."

Farmers could do a snap-up job on the union labor boys by demanding prices which would place their pay on a par with that of their labor union brethren. If they used the same disgraceful tactics to make good their objectives, they could, by gosh, create a nationwide uproar in short order.

Should farmers ever get good and tough, a lot of city people would go to bed hungry.

The farmers live near to the soil and the God who made it. They stay home nights and don't prowl in beer joints.

Neighbor, how often, if ever, have you sat down for a meal with a farmer's wife and kids? I have. A lot of them say grace before beginning to eat. They aren't all angels, but they average out mighty good citizens.

French Business Plan

Paris, July 22 (AP) — The French government is considering an ambitious 10-year scheme to promote industry in Algeria and to provide jobs for Algeria's growing population. Robert Lacoste, resident-minister for Algeria, presented the plan to an inner cabinet meeting Saturday. It was discussed but no decision was made.

Port Ewen

Port Ewen, July 22—Mr. and Mrs. William C. Clark and daughter, Debby; Mrs. Winfield Hartman and Mrs. Hugh Clark, spent the day recently with Mrs. Clark's sister, Mrs. Anna Falkenburg of Congers.

Miss Rose Dinino of Garfield, N. J., is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Coniglio.

Judith Munson, who has been spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dempsey, has returned to her home at Sleepy Hollow.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dempsey and daughter, Eileen, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Munson and family at their camp at Sleepy Hollow.

Miss Joyce Munson of Kingston is spending a few days with Mrs. Frank Dempsey.

Mrs. Leona McLean and daughter, Diane, spent the weekend with Mrs. McLean's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jon Hansen and family at eastern Maryland.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Barth and son, William, who have been vacationing at Lake George, have returned home.

Mrs. Edward Doyle, who has been a patient at Kingston Hospital, has returned to her home on Salem street.

Mrs. Robert Freer and son, Robert, have returned home after spending a few days with Mrs. Freer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Hotelling at Bloomington.

Arthur and Brian Baschnagel of Greenfield, Mass. are visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Baschnagel Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Clark of Schryver street held a family reunion at their home July 10.

Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Hugh W. Clark and sons, Roger and Gary of Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. Tiber Tomshav and children, Gladys, Juanita and Tiber of Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Fitzgerald and Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Hartman, all of Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Clark and children, Annetta and Winston of Rural Retreat, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Sickler and daughter, Paula of Sleightsburgh; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Clark and daughter, Tracy of Connelley.

"Why doesn't he call?"

Everyday, all over America, people who are expected home never get there. . . because death on the highway intervenes! Last year, 40,000 Americans never came home from traffic accidents. Don't let it happen to you!

BACK THE ATTACK ON TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

Here's how you can help:

1. Drive safely, courteously yourself. Observe speed limits, warning signs. Where traffic laws are obeyed, deaths go DOWN!

2. Insist on strict enforcement of all traffic laws. They work for you, not against you. Where traffic laws are strictly enforced, deaths go DOWN!

Direct Approach Works

Dallas, July 22 (AP)—Boy met girl in the zoo gorilla cage Saturday, but it didn't have much effect until yesterday when the girl tried the direct approach—a good right hand to the chops. Zoo officials hope it will result, eventually, in a family, something that doesn't happen often. Jenny, a 3-year-old fresh from the Canary Islands, moved in on two-year-old Jimmy Saturday.

But he ignored her until, to the delight of a Sunday zoo crowd, she slapped him this way and that. Now Jimmy pays attention, but zoo director Pierre Fontaine said they have plenty of time anyway, because gorillas don't mature until about 18.

There's no time like the present ... to start your savings account!

It's much better to start saving NOW (even on a small scale) than to contemplate the most ambitious saving program for some future date. Until you start, you can get nowhere financially. But, once you start, the growing totals in your account book encourage you to keep on saving!

VACATION MONEY PLAN

Here's Low Cost Guarantee

FOR A CARE-FREE VACATION

To those who want that feeling of being able to meet any reasonable emergency, we make this practical suggestion:

1. Come to our office before your vacation starts and borrow $100. If you don't spend it, return it as soon as you come home. Our charges are ONLY for the EXACT NUMBER OF DAYS you keep the money. If you keep it for 2 weeks the charge will be only $1.75.
2. If you spend the $100, we'll give you a year to repay it at a monthly payment of . . . $9.75

Here is practical Vacation Insurance for either:

$1.75 . . . or . . . a monthly payment of $9.75

These payments include principal, interest and all charges.

LARGER AMOUNTS FOR LONGER TIMES . . . IN PROPORTION

FREE FOOT TEST

By special arrangements with Dr. Wm. M. Scholl, world-noted Foot Authority, one of his Special Representatives from Chicago Headquarters will be here to assist our regular staff in rendering this Free Pedographic Foot Test Service.

It shows conditions of your arches and if they may be the cause of your foot and leg pains; shows with scientific accuracy, not only your exact shoe size and width, but the proper shape shoes you should wear for all day foot ease.

If you have corns, callouses, bunions, weak or fallen arches or any common foot trouble you will be shown how millions of foot sufferers have found quick, inexpensive relief through the use of Dr. Scholl's Comfort Remedies and Arch Supports.
